FUNSTON SEEKS FIRST CAVALRY, CAPITAL REPORT

Order Commander Said to Have Asked Crack Regiment Be Called.

Although that the red and white of the First cavalry, I. N. G., will be fluttering in the breeze over the banks of the Rio Grande, yesterday.

Tells of Specific Request.
Last night THE TRIBUNE received the report from one of its Washington correspondents:
"There is a widespread rumor, though not official, that Maj. Gen. Funston made a specific request of the war department for the use of the First cavalry, Illinois national guard, whose officers have been asking that this crack regiment be sent to the border. This report is circulating today, following the understanding that Gen. Funston made a broad request for all the national guard and militia cavalry be called out."

Men Eager to Go.
The thing is certain, and that is that if he wants the men of the First cavalry to have them, and according to Lieut.
Col. W. H. Whigham, these men will be on their way within a surprisingly short time after receiving the call. The news has aroused the enthusiasm of the cavalrymen to the highest pitch, and the officers of the regiment from the "green-horns" to the colonel, can be summed up:

"Just give us the word, Gen. Funston, and watch us come."
Col. Foreman is now en route to Washington, where he will attend a convention of one of the organizations of the Spanish War Veterans. That he will take the opportunity while there of renewing his offer of the regiment for service in the Mexican crisis—has been the first national guard commander to make such an offer when the border troubles started—the conviction of his officers.

Dickson Says All May Go.
Adj. Gen. Francis S. Dickson, in Chicago, said that he believes that the chances for active service for the First cavalry are extraordinarily good and advised this up with the forecast that further strength will be required by the federal government.

"The First cavalry is ready and fit for any duty," Gen. Dickson said. "In the event of federal inspection every officer and all but two of the enlisted men out of a total strength of 900 are present, fully armed and equipped. My own judgment is that it is an organization unsurpassed by any other national guard regiment in the country."

"As for horses, we have orders on file at Springfield, issued in the usual course of business by the war department, advancing us that sufficient funds will be placed to the credit of the state of Illinois at the moment that mobilization is ordered, to cover the cost of purchasing all the horses that are needed. There will be no delay."

Has Reserve of Horses.
All apprehension that may have existed as to the practicability of obtaining trained horses for the entire regiment on a "hurry up" order will be further dissipated by the following news from Washington:

"It also develops that the war department has plenty of reserve horses with which to supply the Illinois and other national guard cavalry, if the state forces lack a sufficient number of mounts. If the Illinois cavalry should be called out the army horses would be available immediately."

Keen for Border Service.
In the absence of Col. Foreman, Lieut.
Col. Wallace H. Whigham is in command of the regiment.

"We are willing to start for the border
as we are willing to go," he said.
The First cavalry is composed of twelve troops, each troop having sixty-five or more men. Nine troops are stationed in Chicago, while the remaining three are at Springfield, Urbana and Peoria. Recently a machine gun troop was added to the organization. The regimental headquarters are at 1320 North Clark street, and the hospital troop and commissary department also make their headquarters there.

Pine for Girls' Answer.
John J. Knobbe, a clerk, who gave his address as 610 South Sangamon street, was fined $100 on a charge of disorderly conduct by Judge
Courtney yesterday. South Park policeman Charles Bellus testified he caught Knobbe annoying two girls 6 or 6 years old.

Medel Sought by Russia.
The boat belonged to the Atlantic aeo-nautical station at Newport News, in which MacCauley is an instructor. Its wings measured 76½ feet and it was built to carry seven persons. It was said to be the largest heavier than air flier ever constructed on this side of the Atlantic and was of a type for which the Russian government is said to have placed several orders.

The accident occurred at Bryan's Point, seventeen miles below Washington, at 8 o'clock this morning.
A government tug towed the wrecked craft to Port Washington.

AIR GIANT FALLS; 2 DROWN, 3 HURT

J. C. MacCauley's Record Breaking Hydroaeroplane Wrecked.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—The big hydroaeroplane with which J. C. Mac-Cauley recently established several new cros-country records was wrecked near Mount Vernon today with a probable loss of two lives and serious injuries to Mac-Cauley and two other persons aboard.
The craft plunged 100 feet into the Potomac, making three revolutions in its descent and collapsing as it struck the water.

Loss of a propeller blade is believed to have been responsible for the accident, although neither MacCauley, who was piloting, nor his mechanic, Philip Utter, who were picked up from the water unconscious, was able tonight to tell exactly what happened.

Traveling at Great Speed.
The flyer's boat was en route from Washington to Newport News and was traveling at a high rate of speed. Mac-Cauley, Utter, and Mayo Dudley, a Washington newspaper man, the third man rescued from the wreckage, were badly bruised and suffered from shocks, but all of them are expected to recover.

Charles A. Good of Elyria, O., a student aviator, and Louis Krantz, a mechanic, the other two passengers, were missing when the tug John Miller came to the rescue, and it is believed they were drowned.

The boat belonged to the Atlantic aeo-
nautical station at Newport News, in which MacCauley is an instructor. Its wings measured 76½ feet and it was built
to carry seven persons. It was said to

ASK FREE RIDES FOR POOR KIDS

Women Want Aldermen to Bring Lake Nearer to West Side Children.

Thousands of children who know Lake Michigan only as a body of water situated east of Haledale street may get a closer introduction this summer. Mrs. William F. Van Buskirk, president of the Chicago South Side club, said yesterday club women are trying to obtain free transportation for the children of the west side.
In cases where it is necessary, the women will act as guides and chaperones.
More than twenty organizations are cooperating in the movement to bring the lake to the children. The question of transportation has been taken up with city council, and the transportation committee will confer with the heads of the elevated and the surface lines.

Clubs in Movement.
The organizations interested in the movement are:
Chicago South Side club, Woman's City club, Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, University of Chicago settlement, Salvation Army, United Charities, Chrysolite club, Hyde Park Baptist church, church, Woodlawn Study club, Chicago Political Equality league, Chicago Commons, Englewood Woman's club, Northwestern University settlement, Little Wanderers' association, Fellowship house, and Hull house.

Want Small Parties.
"The tickets are to be distributed by the charity centers and the agencies working in the congested districts," said Mrs. Van Buskirk. "We hope to secure free rides during July and August. There will be some large parties, but we hope the tickets will be used largely by small groups."

Flight and Excite Passengers.

Victor Peisel, armed with a long blue steel revolver, held sway in a day coach of a limited Santa Fe train in the Park street station for ten minutes last night.
Extol drew his weapon and threatened to "shoot the head off" a Negro porter when the latter tried to put him off because of alleged inebriation. At sight of the weapon the Negro fled and excite-

Oklahoma.

County Takes Up Paper.
Tax anticipation warrants, representing $2-70,000 borrowed by the county board in 1915 were redeemed by Henry Bauckert, county treasurer, yesterday. By his action the county will save $10,000, as the warrants are not ordinarily redeemed until July.

The uncle of the little girl, Walter Surakof 2623 Bunker street, later appeared at the hospital and nursed the crushed child removed to the West Side hospital across the street. He left the instructions of the mother-to save the child if possible with both arms, else death.

Meanwhile the driver of the automobile truck made his escape without pausing to look over the damage he had done to the small body—a crushed arm and bruised face.

EXHUME BODIES IN NEW ENGLAND POISON MYSTERY

Hartford (Conn.) Authorities Accuse Mrs. Gilligan of Wholesale Murders.

Hartford, Conn., May 11.—[Special.]—
From County Prosecutor Hugh M. Alcorn and State's Physician Dr. Arthur F. Wolff came reluctant admissions tonight about the state's case against Mrs.
Amy E. Archer Gilligan of Windsor charged formally with the poisoning of Franklin R. Andrews of Cheshire two years ago, and suspected of complicity in the deaths of her old folk's home. They said it is "the biggest crime that ever shocked
New England and the worst poison plot
this country has ever known."

Mrs. Gilligan's counsel, Benedict M.
Holden, after visiting his client in the Hartford jail, today issued a statement declaring he would not resort to any insanity plea and that Mrs. Gilligan would not plead guilty to any charge of second degree murder.

More Bodies Are Exhumed.
While some of the state police were exhuming more bodies, others again ransacked the Archer home in Windsor and questioned the inmates.

"This case has developed from evidence in my possession into one of the biggest poison cases this country has ever known," Mr. Alcorn said this afternoon when questioned about his case, which has appeared to be very circumstantial.
Asked if there were more than one murder and if his grand jury information would include more than the Andrews case he replied:

"Yes, there were a number of murders—
cool, calculated, premeditated murders —and it is practically obvious that I shall inform against her on two or more counts of first degree murder."

Poison in Other Bodies.
Dr. Wolff, corroborating Prosecutor Al-corn's statement that many people had been poisoned, said:

"This is the most gigantic poisoning plot that ever shocked New England.
More than the two bodies already mentioned have been exhumed and evidences of poison in the viscera discovered. This is a case of multiple poisoning and the end does not seem to have been reached.
The motive seems to be cupidity."

Miss Mary Archer, the beautiful 18 year old daughter of the accused murderer, accompanied by Attorney Holden, visited her mother at the jail today and had a brief talk.

LONDON, May 11.—Winfield R. Shee-

Miss Kay Laurell, who was in the "Folies" and "The Midnight Frolic" last year and was called "the girl with the faultless figure." F. Ziegfeld Jr. once said: "Of all the women I have engaged for my companies, and I have specialized in beauty for many years, I believe Miss Laurell deserves to be called the most beautiful. Her features are absolutely perfect."

$5 COTS TOO HIGH FOR SUFFRAGISTS

So Their Chief Says, but They May Have to Pay It to Keep Out Rivals.

Now comes the mystery of the woman's party meeting place. Members of the Congressional Union, who are to organize the party at their convention in Chicago on June 5, 6, and 7, say the hall where the convention is to be held will be announced on Sunday. Members of their rival organization, the Illinois Equal Suffrage association, assert that the unionists are waiting to get the First Regiment armory.

Rivals Have Option.
The state association has an option on the armory. In its effort to house the thousands of out of town women expected for the suffrage parade, it reserved
the armory in a proposal to convert it into a dormitory for the night of June 7.
But the price per cot was placed at $5 for each woman. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the national association, was telegraphed regarding details of the message accommodations.

"It costs too much," she wired back.
"Give it up."
"But the option has not been relinquished. If the Congressional Union wants the armory for its convention a means may be found to make the big drill hall a suitable place for a $5 "flop" on the night of the 7th."

"Nothing to it," was the reply of the Congressional Union.

Miss Paul Gets a Lease.
"Miss Alice Paul signed the lease for the building," said Miss Hortense McDonald of the union, "before she left last night for Washington. She turned over the $750 that is demanded for the rent of the place. We are waiting until Sunday to make the announcement so that we may get a big Sunday story."

Another unionist scoffed at the idea that the Congressional Union had any feeling against the suffrage parade.
"Our own treasurer, Mrs. Charles Kayser, is to be an adjutant in the parade," she said.

MILITIA TO SHOW PUBLIC BUILDING OF WAR BRIDGE.

Engineer Company to Give Spar
Span Demonstration in Grant Park Tomorrow Afternoon.

A demonstration of "lightning bridge building" will be given in Grant park tomorrow afternoon by company A of the Engineer battalion, Illinois national guard.

It will be held chiefly to show the joint committee on military engineering, which held one of its regular meetings at the University club last night how quickly military spar bridges can be constructed.

Capt. L. S. Marsh, commanding the company, spoke at the meeting on "The Ration, the Rifle, and Marksmanship."

ASSERTS WIFE THREATENED TO SLAY MATTERS

Low Scene Witness Tells of Outburst Because 'Old Fools'
"Tormented" Her.

She wanted to marry the girl, but there had been religious differences. When the girl was hearted, he enlisted, was sent to the front and killed. And "Jessie," bereft of both child and lover, went back home to take up life where she had left it. This will be the testimony of the state's witness when the story of the "Matters baby" is reached in the hearing. The alleged soldier-father's name has never been revealed, but it probably will be. And the testimony of the girl who claims to be the mother will be corroborated, it is declared, by nuns, nurses, and physicians from the Misericordia hospital in Ottawa, where the baby came into the world.

Many women appeared as spectators in the courtroom during the day, in the hope of seeing "Jessie" and hearing the cross examination of the doctor and nurse who formerly admitted perjury. Mrs. Charles Coniskey, wife of the owner of the White Sox, and Mrs. Michael Sullivan, whose husband is an assistant state's attorney, were present. Miss Lillian McLaughlin of the Chicago Medical laboratory, who will be a state witness, was also waiting to be called, and Miss Anna Milbrath, a nurse who testified.

DEATH THREAT TOLD

Hapsdon Hill, whose suggestive former seems to have had little influence in his life, if one can judge by the countless numbers of occupations he has taken up—and laid down—took the stand in the afternoon. After telling of the death threat and the hotel room scene, he was cross-examined by Attorney Burres. "Did they lie there long?" asked Mr. Burres. "Well, some time," replied the witness. "How long? Minutes or hours?" A—Perhaps ten or fifteen minutes. "What did Mr. Gatchell, the house man say?" A—Nothing. "What did you say?" A—Nothing. The defendant's attorney then proceeded to edit a furniture catalogue. Q—Was it a couch or settee? A—Couch. Q—Did it have ends like a sofa? A—No. Q—Did it have a head rest? A—No. Q—Well, was it flat like a bed, or didn't she have something to rest her head on? A—It was flat and she had some pillows under her.

Q—Was it upholstered or plain? A—I can't remember. Q—Was it wide or narrow? A—Medium. Q—Was it big enough to hold two people? A—Yes. "How long was it?" Mr. Burres continued. By this time the state's attorney had ceased to have interest in this home furnishings, so he objected, but was overruled. While Hill testified that it was probably as long as Mrs. Matters' silk stockings, feet did not hang over. "How many times did Mr. Mellon kiss Mrs. Matters?" asked Mr. Burres. "Several times," replied Hill.

MATTERS SEEMED STUPIFIED. At another time Mrs. Matters came into Hill's office, which he was then sharing with R. A. Blakesley, who testified yesterday. Mr. Matters sat for almost an hour staring at nothing and gave the impression of being stupefied. There was another good chance for one of those catalogic spurts of the defendant lawyer. Could Mr. Hill tell when a man was drunk? Mr. Hill modestly admitted sufficient experience to enable him to make this interesting conclusion. "Mightn't Mr. Matters have been drunk?" was asked. "No." "Did he close his eyes?" "No." "Did he go to sleep? And then continuing, did Mr. Hill know the effects of drugs, or was Mr. Hill trying to insinuate that Mr. Matters was not quite in his right mind?"

"Yes," came the reply. "You mean to say that you thought the old man crazy—simple minded—out of his head—an idiot?" with a pause sufficient after each one for Hill to interject suggestive years. Hill testified Mrs. Matters, then Dollie Ledgerwood, introduced Mr. Matters as her father to him. Hill was always under the impression until he read of the marriage in the paper. Up to that time, Hill said, he had thought Mellon and Mrs. Matters were an engaged couple—they acted just as engaged couples would do; they embraced and kissed each other quite often. The famous glass door came into the evidence again when Hill admitted Frank- he had looked through it when Mr. Mellon and Mrs. Matters were inside.

RESEARCH INTO KISSES. "Have you ever tried to distinguish figures through it before or since?" asked Mr. Burres. "No," witness replied. "Did you ever see them kiss?" "Yes." "Through the door?" "What appeared to be kissing." "Now, that kiss given at the Hotel Stratford," continued Mr. Burres. "Wasn't that a good night kiss?" "No." "You're sure it wasn't just a good night kiss?" "Yes, your reason the attorney has an idea about good-night kisses and thinks them as innocuous as he evidently believes them promiscuous. His favorite question is to ask all the witnesses whom they kissed good-night.

O, YES, THEY HAD FOOD. "Did you have anything to eat at this party?" went on the defending counsel. "Yes." "Anything to drink?" "Yes." "Who paid for it?" "Mrs. Gatchell, who was giving the party." "How? Whassay?" exclaimed the lawyer—when he thinks he has a damaging bit of evidence against a state witness he always emphasizes it by feigning deafness and throwing a volume of scorn into his voice as he shouts. "How?"

"When Mrs. Matters said what you said she did that she would kill the old man—what did you say to her?" "I told her it would get her into trouble." "It would get her into trouble," mimicked the lawyer. "You told this little woman—this very defendant—that 'it might get her into trouble.' Is that all you said?"

Philip Weinstein, clerk of the Probate court, was called to read various bills of law, no friction between her father, James Matters, and her uncle, Fred Matters. She said she could recall no quarrels between them. "Do you remember when your father and Fred Matters were in business together in Arcadia?" Attorney Burres asked on cross-examination. "No, sir," Mrs. Lloyd answered. "Wasn't there an estrangement between the two men?" A—I don't think so. They were both very peculiar men. They didn't have much to do with each other nor with anybody else. The witness admitted having paid Mrs. Matters a friendly visit at the latter's home two weeks ago.

"What was the peculiarity of the men?" Mr. Burres persisted. "I can't describe it. You know as well as I do. You knew them both." "Yes, but I am not allowed to testify," was the lawyer's rejoinder.

TELL OF LOVE SCENES. Miss Anna Milbrath of 816 Hyde Park boulevard, a trained nurse, and Miss Marie Freeman of 716 Diversey Parkway, again? Prosecutor Ramsey asked.

Q—Did Mrs. Matters give you any instructions in case Mr. Matters came home while Mellon was there? A—She told me not to let Mr. Matters enter, but give him a prescription to have filled at a drug store.

THE TELEGRAMS FOR AID

Through the testimony of W. H. Morris, district manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, four telegrams, two sent by Mrs. Matters to Dr. L. C. Emile Berard, a physician connected with the Misericordia hospital, Ottawa, Ont., and Miss Marie Louise Des Rosiers, a nurse, and two in reply sent by the physician and the nurse, were introduced into evidence.

The messages sent by Mrs. Matters were in an effort to induce the physician and nurse to come to Chicago and testify in her behalf at the Probate court hearing. The first telegram, sent by Mrs. Matters to Miss Des Rosiers, dated Sept. 28, follows: "I think it advisable for you to come to Chicago, as you were my special nurse during my confinement. I have also wired Dr. Berard to inform me when he can come. It would be more convenient for you both to come at the same time."

REPLY BY MISS DES ROSIERS.

The nurse's reply was: "Impossible for me to come to Chicago at present. Will write immediately." "I would like very much to have you come to Chicago in connection with my case in the Probate court. I would like to have you here at the same time Miss Des Rosiers came. Kindly wire me the earliest day you can come to Chicago. Will send you transportation to and from Chicago as soon as I hear from you."

The physician's reply was: "At present actually employed by the Canadian militia, and cannot obtain permission to travel abroad."

DIDN'T TREAT MATTERS WELL.

Q—Following Mr. Matters' return, how did Mrs. Matters treat him? A—She didn't treat him very well. Q—Did Mrs. Matters say anything with reference to her husband and Mellon? A—She told me she had tried to get Mr. Matters out of the house several times so that Mr. Mellon could come. Miss Milbrath testified to the dis-

THE MOTHER'S TEST

"Jessie Bryan" Ready to Face Court to Claim Matters Baby as Her Own, and Whose Father Is Said to Have Fallen in Flanders.

FOR the first time yesterday the girl called Jessie Bryan came from the seclusion in which she has been kept for many days by attaches of the state's attorney's office. The appealing little figure appeared for a moment in the gloomy corridors of the Criminal court building, and then was whisked behind closed doors to prepare for the big moment when she is to take the stand in Judge Thomson's court. Only a few knew that this was the girl who has steeled herself to bare the tragic memories of her only love and has come to Chicago to face Mrs. Anna Dollie Ledgerwood Matters and fight for possession of the "Matters baby," whom she claims as her own.

Girl's Real Name Margaret.

Jessie's first name is Margaret. Her last name is not Bryan. But in order to save her and to save the mother for whom she has already sacrificed so much and for the sake of the little child whom she hopes to take back with her to Canada to grow up without the stain of this trial, the state has substituted the pseudonym. She's young—only 18—but already she has known the sorrows and griefs of life. There is no hope of happiness for Jessie—no faint expectation that perhaps in future years the lover of her youth may still give his name to her child. For that lover is dead. In a battlefield grave in Flanders, probably unmarked, unnamed, lies the body of the youth that Jessie loved. When the call went out to the colonies the man, already unhappy, wrapped in the mesh of a net which would not seem to untangle, left for England, went through his training at Salisbury camp, and then on to the barren wastes of Flanders.

Wanted to Marry Her.

For he had wanted to marry Jessie. He had really loved her. And he loved her after the baby was born and still begged her to marry him. According to Attorney Robert F. Burkhalter, who went up to Canada in the interests of the case when it was in court before, the only reason they did not marry was on account of the girl's mingled fear and old-fashioned sense of obedience to her mother and the deep obedience to her church, which does not encourage marriage with unbelievers. Jessie was of one faith. The man was of another. Jessie's mother knew of their love, knew of Jessie's condition, later, but she continued to forbid her. And when they told her that the baby was dead, when she no longer felt the urgent necessity for the sake of the protection of her child, she allowed herself to be completely influenced.

Her Sweetheart Dies in War.

The months dragged on. Jessie worked when she could. And then came the news of her sweetheart's death. Jessie sat and cried all day. In her childlike faith it had seemed to her necessary, ordained, that some day he should come back and it would end story book fashion. And so they lived happy ever after. Now she is able to take care of her child and she wants the little girl. She wants the one thing which will be a daily reminder of the only man she has ever loved. She wants to tell the child that father was a hero and to tell it with pride and without a tear. That is why she is here. That is why she is willing to tell her story to the curious public.

SIX KEGS FULL OF BEER: JUST ONE COP TO DRINK IT.

Patrolman Who Invited Fifty Police to Parents' Golden Wedding Finds All Held on Reserve.

Patrolman Ned I. Brower had a pretty thought in connection with the celebration of his parents' golden wedding anniversary. He was going to bring fifty policemen to the festivities, one for each year of the wedding half century. There were six kegs of beer bought and the tables in the Brower home were away back with the good provision. Last night Brower walked in to Capt. Cronin's office to ask leave of absence for the fifty "foinst" Saturday night. "Brower, can you drink six kegs of beer?" asked Capt. Cronin, hopefully. "If you can't there's going to be a warrant and unspeakable waste at your house, because Chief Healey has ordered all men held for reserve duty during the various strikes."

So Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brower will celebrate the golden wedding with one policeman, their son, instead of fifty-one.

RAILROAD CLERK ADMITS HE WROTE THE LETTERS.

Just When Things Were Growing Interesting Judge Landis Adjourned Court Until Today.

Interesting developments are expected in the trial of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad in Judge Landis' court this morning. In the morning session yesterday Henry Howard, a correction clerk for the railroad, testified he knew of no improper transactions between the railroad and the Carrier-Lowe company of Joliet. But on cross examination Assistant District Attorney Allan J. Carter produced letters written by Howard, in which he discussed the questioned transactions. "Are those your letters?" Howard was asked. "Yes, sir," was the answer. Then Judge Landis announced court was adjourned until this morning.

IRELAND SEETHES WITH ANGER OVER BRITISH KILLINGS

Asquith Goes to Dublin—Dillon in Vitriolic Attack on Government.

LONDON, May 11.—The most dangerous factor in Ireland's situation, which has been recognized since the brief visit of the British minister, was that the punishment of the rebels would cause a reaction of sympathy among the warm-hearted and emotional people. This threatened danger appears to be fast materializing.

John Dillon, one of the most respected of the Nationalists, but often one of the bitterest antagonists of British rule, attacked the government today in the House of Commons in a speech which for bitter denunciation has not been surpassed at Westminster since Parnell's days.

Asquith Goes to Dublin.

Premier Asquith, who has been notably opposed to the breach and is taking the unprecedented course of journeying to Dublin to investigate the situation and doubtless to give instructions to Gen. Sir John Maxwell regarding the policy which the military government must pursue now that the chief civil administrators, Lord Wimborne, Augustus Birrell, and Sir Matthew Nathan have retired from office. The premier left here tonight by the Irish mail train on his way to that city.

Mr. Asquith once before took the reins in his own hands at a crisis by assuming the secretaryship of war, when the threatened Ulster revolt in 1914 caused the resignation of Col. Seely.

Time for Ireland to Act.

Many of the newspapers, particularly the Liberal organs, call upon the Irish to seize the present opportunity for settling their long standing differences.

The Marquis of Lansdowne intimated to the House of Lords that the disarmament of all Ireland will be undertaken. This would mean the disarmament of the Ulster and Nationalist volunteers, and whether that can be done depends on Sir Edward Carson and John Redmond more than on any other individuals.

The House of Commons negatived, without division, Mr. Dillon's motion demanding that the government should immediately declare its intentions. The House of Lords adopted, without division, Lord Lansdowne's motion expressing dissatisfaction with the government's management of Ireland.

Urges Irish to Be Calm.

Premier Asquith urged the Irish to maintain a sense of proportion and not let sympathy for the misled insurgents cause them to forget the deaths of soldiers and civilians, and promised that in future court-martials on murder charges shall be held in public.

The chief cause of the attack on the government in the House of Commons was the revelation that another execution had occurred—that of a Fenian named Kent—which was the first military execution outside of Dublin.

It was charged by one of the members that many of the 1,700 persons deported to England had no connection with the uprising in Ireland.

The summary shooting of the Irish Editor P. Sheehy Skeffington has aroused increased protest as the details have become known.

Shafts from Dillon.

In speaking on his resolution Mr. Dillon referred to the execution of Thomas Kent in County Cork, saying it looked as if there was a roving commission to carry out "these horrible executions."

At present everything conceivable, said Mr. Dillon, was being done to spread disaffection throughout the country. Limerick, Clare, and Mayo were in a disturbed condition, and their reward was the sending of troops to make arrests.

"If Ireland were governed by men out of Bedlam," shouted Mr. Dillon, "they could not pursue a more insane policy."

Editor Executed Without a Trial

P. Sheehy Skeffington

You are letting loose a river of blood between two races, which, after 300 years of hatred, we had nearly succeeded in bringing together. You are washing out our whole life work in a sea of blood."

Mr. Dillon charged that men had been threatened with death unless they gave evidence against comrades. In one case a boy of 15 was ordered to give evidence. He said "I won't," and the officer said, "You will be shot." The boy replied, "Shoot away."

Lad Shows Bravery.

The boy was then blindfolded and taken away and was again asked to inform, but replied: "No!" He was then made to hear the click of rifles. Afterward, the bandages were taken from his eyes and he was sent home. After describing this incident Mr. Dillon said:

"I call that damnable and intolerable. Relating further incidents, Mr. Dillon continued:

"Another man said, 'Shoot me, for I have killed three of your soldiers.' That may horrify some of the honorable members here, but I am proud of these men."

This remark met with loud cries of "Shame!" But the speaker went on: "I am proud of their courage, and if the English people were not so dense they would have these people fighting for them."

Replies to Mr. Dillon.

Premier Asquith opened in grave tones in reply to Mr. Dillon. He expressed deep regret that the member in most parts of his speech had forgotten some of the elementary rules of justice, which ought to be a guidance in dealing with such a serious situation.

The premier appealed to the House to remember the infinite mischief done at a moment when he was still hopeful that events might lead to something like a greater approximation of sympathy among all classes of Irishmen.

Premier Asquith explained that actually thirteen persons had been shot, the last case being that of Kent for murder. The premier promised that further court-martials for murder would be conducted publicly.

More Given Prison Terms.

DUBLIN, May 11.—A statement issued tonight gives the names of six additional men tried by court martial and sentenced to death but whose sentences were commuted to various terms of imprisonment.

PLANNED TO KIDNAP CARSON

LONDON, May 11.—A plot to kidnap Sir Edward Carson, from Cusack, County Antrim, where he is expected to spend the Easter holidays, has been uncovered by an investigation, says the Daily Telegraph's Dublin correspondent. The plan, carried, the correspondent adds, because Sir Edward, owing to the pressure of business, canceled his holiday.

AMERICAN NOTE ROILED GERMANY; POLICY TO BOW

LONDON, May 11.—What purports to be a summary of the speech of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German Imperial chancellor, at the secret sitting of the general committee of the Reichstag on May 5 concerning Germany's reply to America, is published by the Wireless Press today, under a Berne date. The Wireless Press states that the following remarks by the chancellor may be accepted as authentic:

"I have said before that we must drop all sentimentality. I repeat that. With regard to our dispute with America, our self-respect was wounded by the aggressive wording of the American note to Germany. Our feelings urge us to repel this interference with our legitimate methods of warfare, and tell America to mind her own business, but considerations of policy compel us to subordinate patriotic zeal to patriotic reason. We must be guided, however, not by our feelings but by the coolest judgment."

Victory Is Only Duty.

"We have one aim and one duty—namely: to win the war; therefore, any policy which endangers our victory must be avoided. The overwhelming majority of expert opinion regards a rupture of relations with America as a grave peril."

"A great mistake has been committed in overestimating the value of the submarine campaign against England. Our naval experts no longer believe in the probability of reducing England to starvation and ruin by submarines, even if the war lasts another two years. It is true that these instruments can inflict a frightful amount of damage, but this damage would be insufficient to outweigh the danger to ourselves of America's hostility."

Fears Effect on Others.

"It is risky to underestimate the consequences of a conflict with America, nor should we risk only America's enmity. Our information leads us to believe that other neutrals might follow America's lead."

"The imperial government has weighed every factor and is convinced of the necessity of avoiding a breach with America."

These are the hard facts of the present situation. We have worded a reply such as may reserve future liberty of action. If the situation changes, we may cancel our concessions to America and resume unrestricted submarine operations, but for the present we must overcome our feeling and pursue the policy most conducive to final victory over all our enemies."

Thinks Ultimatum Withdrawn.

AMSTERDAM, via London, May 11.—Commenting on the American reply to the German note on submarine warfare, the semi-official Cologne Gazette expresses the opinion that an understanding has been reached and that President Wilson has withdrawn his "ultimatum."

Notwithstanding the president's refusal to consider matters as a whole, says the newspaper, he will still have to come back to Great Britain's reply to his note of complaints, as this reply does not meet a single one of his claims.

U. S. MEDIATION URGED BY POPE

Report Circulates in Rome That Pontiff Has Made Appeal to Wilson.

FRANCE IS OBDURATE.

ROME, May 11.—Though no information is obtainable from the Vatican, it is generally reported in Rome that Pope Benedict, through Mgr. Bonzano, apostolic delegate to Washington, has requested President Wilson to initiate a movement for peace.

It is rumored that France alone of all the belligerents is not now inclined to make peace.

(The above cablegram from the Rome bureau of the United Press was transmitted through Havre, and, therefore, passed through the hands of both the Italian and French censors. The fact that both censors permitted the cabling of the statement that it was rumored in Rome that all the belligerents except France are now inclined toward peace may be of the highest significance, as indicating the attitude of the allies toward the peace hint contained in the German reply to President Wilson's submarine note.)

Plan Another Plea to Wilson.

New York, May 11.—Hamilton Holt, chairman of the American branch of the Central Organization for Durable Peace, announced today that he will call a meeting within a short time to consider urging President Wilson to submit peace proposals to European belligerents.

The call will go out in response to an appeal from the Netherlands anti-war council. The Dutch council, Holt said, believes that Germany made an indirect bid for peace in her reply to the American note on submarine warfare.

U. S. TO ASK HOW U-BOAT CAPTAIN WAS DISCIPLINED

Lansing Wants to Know Punishment Meted Out for the Sinking of Sussex.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—[Special.]—Secretary Lansing said today that the United States would ask Germany for information about the manner in which the submarine commander who sank the Sussex has been punished.

The German note recently received acknowledges that one of the submarines was responsible, despite the first statement to the contrary by the commander. It also states that this commander, in view of the violation of orders from the German admiralty, has been "appropriately punished."

German Action in China Similar.

The first statement from the state department was that international courtesy compelled the United States to accept that declaration from the German government, and assume that the punishment is adequate. Later, however, it was made known that this bare declaration is not satisfactory. There will be an inquiry of Berlin shortly, but if the answer is not satisfactory, the state department has not yet decided what will be done about it.

Such action is not without precedent. One of the most famous precedents was established by Germany herself in the time of the Boxer rebellion in China, when Von Ketteler was assassinated. This was looked on not merely as a murder of a German citizen, which might have been followed simply by insurance from the Chinese government that the murderers had been executed.

Mexicans Ignore U. S. Demands.

The German government considered it an affront to German sovereignty and immediately demanded not only that the murderers be executed but also that a German representative be present at the ceremony. China granted the demand without demur. China being in no position to do anything else under the threat of a thoroughgoing prepared for.

The United States has not been called on recently to follow such a precedent, the nearest thing to it being the universal demand from the state department that the murderers of Americans in Mexico be punished.

There are two important differences, however. In the Mexican murders, generally, those responsible were not admitted to be government officers. The other difference is that, with a few rare exceptions, no Mexican has ever paid any attention to the American demand.

First Request to Germany.

It is not recalled at the state department that any request was made for information about punishment meted out to submarine commanders responsible for other sinkings contrary to the reported admiralty orders. The state department, however, considers the Sussex case much more aggravated than any others within the last year.

Only today was the American note accepting the German assurances for the future received by the German government. News of this came from Ambassador Gerard. This means that the Sussex note was sent to Washington before the latest American note was received.

WAGE SCALE TO BE RAISED AT ROCK ISLAND ARSENAL.

Secretary Baker Announces Plan to Increase Pay Based on Salaries in Similar Private Plants.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Secretary Baker announced today that wage increases, to be determined later, would be granted to workmen in the government arsenal at Rock Island, Ill. He said, however, that the increases would not be based on the wage scale paid similar workmen in Chicago or in cities adjacent to Rock Island, but on the scales of similar private plants at Rock Island, Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Ia., where living standards are similar.

Secretary Baker said he believed the increases, based on recommendations of the department of labor and representing a compromise between proposals of the workmen and the arsenal management, would be accepted as satisfactory.

The workmen petitioned for readjustments by May 15, and the increases will be determined by that time, the secretary said.

"The Unwritten Law" attains to a high moral level. Without resorting to sensationalism it depicts the awful toll that an honest public official pays for doing his duty. It depicts with deftness how a boss politician strives to win the love of the official's wife and how he pays the penalty for his duplicity. A mother's love for her offspring is the predominating feature in the play and her mad desire to shield her child from disgrace makes it worth while.

WHIP HAND ON IMMIGRATION HELD BY JAPS

Low Imminent Unless Congress and President Back Down from Stand.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., May 11.—[Special.]—The President Wilson and Congress are in a tight spot with the wishes of Japan it is not only the United States and Japan, but also the United States and Japan. The United States and Japan are in a tight spot with the wishes of Japan it is not only the United States and Japan, but also the United States and Japan.

C. & N. W. President Who Died in East.

W.A. GARDNER

Interference of the Japanese ambassador with the process of legislation, particularly in a matter of vital interest to the United States.

Other legislators hold a different view. For example, Senator Sterling of South Dakota, a Republican member of the senate committee on immigration, said he could see no impropriety in the efforts of the Japanese ambassador to defeat the proposed exclusion provision.

Wilson Backing Down?

It transpired today that as the result of the ambassador's protest the president is now trying to back out of a proposal which was made officially by a member of his own cabinet. In 1914 Secretary of Labor Wilson in a letter to the speaker of the house of representatives recommended that in any legislation excluding Asiatic laborers there be included an exemption of "aliens the immigration of whom into the United States is regulated by existing agreements as to passports."

With such a provision the exclusion legislation would not apply to Japanese laborers, whose emigration to the United States is prevented by Japan under the terms of the "gentlemen's agreement."

No Objection to Clause.

Before the committee favorably reported the bill to the house the state department was asked if there were any reasons for regarding this provision illegal, improper, or unwise.

The state department raised no objection whatsoever, and the provision, therefore, was retained in the bill by the committee, and was approved by the house. The house, however, and in fact, the state department, had not reckoned with Viscount Chinda, who found the provision totally unacceptable. One of the ambassador's objections was to the lumping of Japanese and Hindus in the same sentence. It was humiliating to Japanese, he contended, to be classed with Hindus. The senate committee sought to remove the ground for the ambassador's objection by proposing to phrase the exclusion provision thus:

"Persons who cannot become eligible, under existing law, to become citizens of the United States by naturalization, or who are otherwise provided for by existing agreements as to passports or by existing treaties, conventions, or agreements, or by law hereafter entered into; Hindu."

Absolves House from Insult.
The committee reported the bill to the senate with this phraseology, and in its report absolved the house of any intention of humiliating Japanese by lumping them with Hindus. Speaking of the house phraseology, the senate committee said:

"The words 'Hindu' had been inserted undoubtedly because some courts have held that Hindu can become eligible to become citizens by naturalization, so that said large class of oriental aliens originally intended to be covered by the provision excluding those who can not become eligible might possibly be held not to be included in the law. It will also be observed that the phrase attached to these provisions to show that they have neither the Japanese nor Chinese in mind has been improved and made absolutely inclusive."

Viscount Chinda, however, was not satisfied with the senate committee's effort to meet his wishes. He complained, in effect, that congress was seeking to exclude Japanese by a subterfuge. Congress pretended that the exclusion provision did not apply to Japanese, whereas the provision was inserted at the instance of Pacific coast senators and representatives for the purpose of excluding existing process by which Japanese are excluded.

Calls Exemption a Sham.

The ambassador was not convinced by the application of the exclusion provision only to persons not eligible to naturalization. He contended that while some Japanese have been naturalized the American courts in every contested case have refused to naturalize his countrymen. The Supreme court never has acted on the eligibility of Japanese to naturalization. Altogether, the ambassador pronounced this exemption a sham.

Moreover, the ambassador objected to the proviso that the exclusion provision should not apply to persons whose immigration is regulated by passport agreements. Under the "gentlemen's agreement" Japan refuses passport to Japanese laborers to migrate to the United States. The proviso, the ambassador complained, proposes the recognition of the "gentlemen's agreement" in American law. He was displeased by this plan because the "gentlemen's agreement" was entered into to obviate the necessity of exclusion legislation which would have been offensive to Japan. What need of any legislation on the subject, he asked, so long as the "gentlemen's agreement" exists?

Wants to Save Face.

In pursuance of Viscount Chinda's disapproval of the proposed legislation Secretary of State Lansing has had frequent conferences with Chairman Smith and other members of the senate committee on immigration and sought to bring about a recession by courtesies from the attitude that has offended Japan. The premier has experienced a good deal of difficulty in this undertaking. The administration is trying to find a way to submit to Japan's demands and still save its face.

The capitol is exceedingly reluctant to back down, even at the behest of the president. Senators and representatives contend that Japanese are no more assimilable with Americans than are Chinese, now excluded by law. They assert that the country will be safer with exclusion legalized, for the time may come when the "gentlemen's agreement" will be abrogated or not observed. Moreover, they cannot understand how the Japanese can take offense at a provision that does not specifically designate them as subject to exclusion.

Bedraft Provision Twice.

Twice the Democratic members of the committee, under pressure by the administration, have redrafted the provision and submitted the phraseology. Twice Secretary Lansing has submitted the phraseology to Viscount Chinda. Twice the ambassador has vetoed the legislative proposals. Twice the proposals vetoed by the ambassador have gone back to the senate committee in much the same manner that the president returns legislation with his disapproval.

The committee is now trying to devise a new combination of words that will meet the approval of the Japanese ambassador without subjecting the United States to the humiliation of a complete backdown.

Says U. S. Is Obligated.

Whether Viscount Chinda will allow the administration to save its face remains to be seen. He is extremely obdurate. He is totally opposed to congress legislating in any manner on the matter of Japanese exclusion.

Secretary of State Lansing is confident, however, that congress will be induced to change the bill in a manner satisfactory to the Japanese ambassador. If congress refuses to yield the Japanese exclusion provision will offer a reason for the veto of the bill by the president. There is, however, a strong possibility that the bill would be passed over the presidential veto.

DUNNE EXPECTS REHEARING OF WATERWAY PROJECT.

Gets Promise of Secretary Baker to Consider Subject Monday—Joins in Protest Against Williams.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—[Special.]—Gov. Dunne arrived in Washington tonight to renew his fight for permission from the war department for the construction of his deep waterway.

"I am confident," said the governor, "that Secretary Baker will reopen the case and give Illinois a chance to build a waterway that will permit the sending of goods by water from Chicago to the gulf."

The secretary of war will hold a public hearing on Monday on the governor's request for a rehearing.

Before leaving Washington the governor expected to call on President William Taft. He is expected to be accompanied by his wife. The two have practically decided to make a joint request that President Wilson withdraw his nomination of Dixon C. Williams to be postmaster at Chicago.

Dr. Ochsner of Chicago Urges Segregation—Discuss Standardization.

POLICEMAN HURT ON DUTY.

While Pursuing Three Supposed Thieves in New Building He Fell to Basement.

Policeman Patrick F. Sheridan of the Englewood station, while pursuing three men, was severely hurt last night in a fall from the first floor to the basement of an unfinished building at West Third street and South Western avenue. In the building were stored plumbing supplies. The policeman, in passing, saw the three men. He drew his revolver and started after them. After being attended by a physician he was taken home. The supposed thieves escaped.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 11.—[Special.]—

"Standardization of Charities" was the topic discussed today at the meeting of the public and private charities division of the National Conference of Charities and Correction. C. V. Williams of the Ohio state board of charities discussed state supervision of charity societies, especially those devoted to child caring.

Henry Stewart, secretary of the charities subscriptions committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce, said that standardization meant sound management, social efficiency, and financial integrity. He explained how the committee of thirteen from the commerce association was an advisory council of thirty-five of the foremost charity workers, who gave practical advice.

and insanity. Dr. Edward H. Ochsner of Chicago, president of the Illinois state charities commission, urged the permanent segregation of the mental and moral defective.

"The chances of a mentally and morally defective person having a numerous progeny," Dr. Ochsner said, "a large percentage of whom will attain maturity and will, in turn, have numerous offspring, is probably greater today than it ever has been."

Balloting for the election of officers of the national conference began today and will continue until tomorrow night. The ballots will be counted in time for a report to be made at the business session Saturday morning.

cates His Stand.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 11.—[Special.]—Col. Roosevelt has written a letter to the Roosevelt Nonpartisan League, telling them that he approves of the work they are doing.

His letter is taken to be a declaration that he is an avowed candidate for the Republican and Progressive nomination. It also is believed to give the lie to the reports that he would support Justice Hughes, Elihu Root, or any other candidate.

Text of Colonel's Letter.

Col. Roosevelt's letter reads:

"Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 11, 1916. Mr. Guy Emerson, National Secretary, Roosevelt Nonpartisan League, 12 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York City. Dear Mr. Emerson: I have your letter asking a statement from me as to the work of the Roosevelt Nonpartisan League. As you know, I have refused to endorse the use of my name in the primaries or in any way to enter into any factional contest which has for its object my nomination in Chicago in June.

"You also know that I have emphatically stated that it would be unwise to nominate me unless with the full understanding that such nomination means the hearty endorsement of the principles for which I stand—the principles set forth in the Chicago speech to which you refer.

Always for Preparedness.

"I do not have to improve my convictions on either Americanism or preparedness. I have fought for them all my life long and when I was president I translated my convictions concerning them into governmental policy.

"The events of the last two years in Europe and of the last four or five years in Mexico have brought into vivid relief the vital need of preparedness. And the sinister revival of the politico-racial hyphen in our politics has emphasized the need of stern insistence on thoroughgoing Americanism within our own borders.

Preparedness, Peace Guarantee.

"Nineteen years ago, when I was assistant secretary of the navy, I said 'Preparedness against war is the surest guarantee for peace.'

"Cowardice in a race as an individual is the unpardonable sin, and a willful failure to prepare for danger may in its effects be as bad as cowardice. The timid man who cannot fight and the selfish, shortsighted or foolish man who will not take the steps that will enable him to fight stand on almost the same plane.

"As yet no nation can hold its place in the world or can do any work really worth doing unless it stands ready to guard its rights with an armed hand. That orderly liberty which is both the foundation and the capstone of our civilization can be gained and kept only by men who are willing to fight for an ideal, who hold high the love of honor, the love of faith, love of flag, and love of country.

Peace, like freedom, is not a gift that comes too easily in the hands of cowards or of those too feeble or too shortsighted to deserve it. And we ask to be given this means to insure that honorable peace which alone is worth having.

Approves League's Work.

"Your league emphasizes its devotion to these principles and supports me only as representing these principles. This is emphatically the proper attitude to take. And because this is your attitude, and because you are working in this spirit, I very earnestly approve your work.

"The safety of this country depends upon our immediate serious and vigorous effort to secure our own national rehabilitation. The slumbering patriotism of our people must be awakened and translated into concrete and efficient action. The awakening must be to a sense of national and international duty and responsibility. We must do our duty both to ourselves and to others and unless we fit ourselves to guard our own rights we shall be impotent to defend the rights of any one else.

Must Show Character.

"We must show that we have the rugged strength of character without which ease and luxury and material well being represent nothing but promise of national disaster.

"We must insist that every man in the land be loyal to the United States and to no other nation on the globe, for we can tolerate no divided allegiance. We must prepare ourselves to meet every crisis, and the preparedness must be industrial and social no less than military; it must be of the soul and the mind no less than of the body.

"Our present troubles with Mexico and Germany are the direct result of our utter failure to prepare, and of our governmental policy of almost unbelievable timidity and vacillation. A policy of vigorous preparedness and courage but immediate insistence on our rights from the very beginning of the war would, instead of being provocative, have prevented all chance of trouble.

Crime Against Nation.

"It is a crime against this nation and against mankind that there has been so much preparation. So far from gaining the respect of our opponents by our exhibition of weakness and timidity, we have drifted to the verge of war with them.

"Even if peace should now come in Europe it would, nevertheless, remain our highest duty to realize our own culpable shortcomings and enter on a course of far-reaching preparedness—preparedness in things military to free us from all danger of attack from without and preparedness in matters social and industrial, so as to make us really fit for the work of peace within our own borders.

"I am glad and proud, as an American, that you are fearlessly and efficiently backing these ideals.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

BACK WILSON IN MARYLAND.

Democrats Instruct Delegation to St. Louis to Vote as a Unit for President.

Baltimore, Md., May 11.—The Democratic state convention here today issued the administration of President Wilson and instructed the Maryland delegation of thirty-two, with half a vote each, to the national convention at St. Louis to vote as a unit for his renomination.

The nomination of Congressman David J. Lewis for the United States senatorship was ratified.

The following are the delegates at large: United States Senators John Walter Smith and Blair Lee, Gov. E. C. Harrington, State Attorney General Albert C. Ritchie, William Cabell Bruce, Congressman J. F. C. Talbot, Jere H. Wheelwright, and Dr. J. Hubert Wade.

320 G. O. P. VOTES FOR ROOSEVELT, BACKERS CLAIM

New York Moose Meeting Takes Optimistic View of the Colonel's Chances.

It's a fight from the jump for the nomination of Roosevelt by the Republicans next month. The latest Roosevelt claim, made by close political friends—active Progressive party leaders—is 320 votes for the colonel in the Coliseum convention.

On this premise, 173 more votes are needed to nominate Col. Roosevelt. The agreed policy is to win those things right along with the object of effecting the nomination not later than the third ballot.

Such was the information yesterday from New York, where the "big" politics of the Republican and Progressive conventions is now being discussed in the first demonstration of Rooseveltian activity when Republican delegates begin to gather.

G. O. P. Leaders Can't See It.

Chicagoans in touch with the plans of the leaders of the compact organization that will control the preliminary stages of the convention share the belief of these leaders that the maximum Roosevelt strength on the basis of the 750 delegates already elected is under the 200 mark. They discount the optimistic claim for the colonel made on the heels of the Progressive national executive committee meeting and traced back to George W. Perkins.

They do not doubt, however, that the colonel's friends will not quit until it is certain he cannot be nominated. Reports from the east tend to indicate that sea-board interests are mobilizing in Col. Roosevelt's behalf. The story, it is said, will be to establish a "rule of reason" by which delegates can be bargained into the Roosevelt camp rather than to try forcing his nomination by a stampede.

Moose Delegates Increased.

Sudden increase of interest in the Progressive convention is reported. George F. Porter, chairman of the local committee on arrangements, goes to New York today to discuss seating arrangements. Instead of 900 delegates, there will be 1,800, it is claimed, and early arrangements for the Auditorium have to be thrown into the discard.

Work on the construction of the interior of the Coliseum for the Republican convention is in full swing. Sergeant at Arms William F. Stone will move into his Coliseum offices today. Secretary James B. Reynolds will be here Monday and Chairman Hillier will get in one week from Monday.

WIFE NAMES TWO IN SUIT.

John L. Dean Sued for Divorce and "Euth" and "Miss Bellemonte" Are Accused.

Suit for divorce was filed yesterday by Mrs. Anna Buela Dean against John L. Dean, said to be a wealthy contractor. A. A. Worsley, attorney for Mrs. Dean, said he is puzzled as to the identity of "Euth" and "Miss Bellemonte," named as co-respondents. In the city directory the name John L. Dean, a contractor, appears as living at 5463 West Madison street.

HUGHES FORGING AHEAD OF RIVALS

Stock Booms All Over Nation—Sentiment Gives Him Preference.

BUSY IN WISCONSIN.

New York, May 11.—[Special.]—Justice Hughes forged far to the front today as the leading candidate for Republican nomination for president.

Without definite count of delegates or declarations of states and factions, political leaders said that Hughes stock was booming throughout the country, and the drift of Hughes sentiment was becoming so strong in his favor as to give him unquestioned preference.

Big Majority for Hughes.

Samuel S. Koenig, chairman of the New York county Republican committee, after talks with leaders from many districts during the last week, said:

"It is evident, I think, that a majority of the New York state delegates are in favor of Justice Hughes. However, there will be no attempt on the part of party organizations to line up delegates for or against any candidate.

"So far as New York county is concerned, which is the only organization for which I can speak, we have our own preference, but we shall go to the Chicago convention prepared to confer with delegates from other states and, after thorough canvass of the situation, determine who is the best man for the party to nominate."

Wisconsin Delegate Roundup.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 11.—Delegates from Wisconsin to the national Democratic convention at St. Louis late today organized by Joseph E. Martin of Green Bay, national committeeman, by unanimous vote chose Judge John C. Karel of Milwaukee chairman of the delegation, and agreed on committee assignments as follows:

Resolutions—United States Senator Paul O. Hastings, Mayville. Permanent organization—George B. Hill-ton, Oshkosh.

Rules and order of business—William F. Wolfe, La Crosse. Credentials—Vincent J. Schoencker, Milwaukee.

Rolan Schnitz was elected secretary of the delegation and William F. Wolfe, La Crosse, was agreed upon to make the speech seconding the nomination of President Wilson.

The secretary of the delegation was instructed to send telegrams to President Wilson and Senator Hastings expressing fealty.

Suffrage Gets Hearing.

Mrs. Henry M. Youmans, Waukesha president of the Wisconsin Women's Suffrage association, was given a hearing, in which, after espousing the cause and reciting the progress of the movement, urged the delegates to give woman suffrage consideration at the St. Louis convention.

Alternate delegates at large were elected as follows: O. D. Brandenburg, Madison; Jay Page, Elkhorn; John Rodden, Horton; and Louis A. Lange, Fond Du Lac.

HE FELS DRAMATIC CRITIC.

Michael Sheehan Arrested After Attacking Stephen Janicki of Polish Daily.

Stephen Janicki of 1069 Armitage avenue, dramatic critic of the Polish Daily News, was assaulted last night as he alighted from a Milwaukee avenue car at North Robey street by Michael Sheehan of 137 North Robey street. Sheehan is said to have been drinking. He was arrested after he had knocked Janicki down.

CHICAGO PLAN COMMISSION URGES "ZONING" OF CITY.

Asks Ettelson's Opinion on "Districting" City for Residence, Factory, and Other Purposes.

Through a letter to Corporation Counsel Ettelson yesterday the Chicago Plan commission initiated what it believes is one of the most important phases of its work. It is that of "zoning" or "districting" the city.

"Districting a city," read the letter, "means controlling city development by dividing it into its proper elements based on a survey made for the purpose of determining zones for the location of trades and industries, housing, the heights of buildings, the establishment of building lines, the area of courts and yards, and the location of buildings designed for specific purposes.

"When a survey is made, in order that proper zones may be established, there should follow the division of the city into residential, commercial, industrial and unrestricted zones. The districting plan will do for individual owners what they can not do for themselves—set up uniform building restrictions within specified districts."

The letter to Mr. Ettelson was to ask information about the city's legal powers and the necessary legislation to carry out a districting plan.

TAMMANY' FOR CHICAGO TAKES OVER ALL JOBS

Democratic Committee Votes to Control Patronage and Officials Agree.

Final steps were taken last night by the Democratic managing committee of Cook county in the organization of a local "Tammany hall" that goes farther than anything heretofore attempted along this line in Chicago.

By a unanimous vote of the committee, three of the seven Harrison committee members were absent—the entire Democratic patronage of Cook county was placed in the hands of the managing committee, which is comprised of one committee member from each of the thirty-five wards and six members from the county towns district.

This committee was elected in the recent primary, which resulted in an almost sweep for the Roger C. Sullivan ticket.

The committee, in addition to assuming control of all patronage, ordered every Democratic elective officeholder in Cook county to send to the committee at once the names of every man on their pay rolls.

Most Get Ward Indorsement.
The committee also, by a unanimous vote, directed every Democratic elective official in Cook county not to consider any applicant for a position unless such applicant first secures indorsement of his ward organization. It also was ordered that all Democratic officials ascertain at once whether they have on their pay rolls any workers who have not received ward organization indorsement, and to inform those men that they must immediately secure such indorsement or quit.

The committee also directed all Cook county Democratic officials to report to it at once not only names of all appointees in their offices but any resignations that may hereafter take place, together with a list of any vacancies that may occur on their pay rolls.

Takes In All Offices.
This action was taken following speeches by several Democratic officials, including Thomas J. Webb, member of the board of review; Frank Walsh, clerk of the Criminal court, and John T. Ralston, clerk of the Circuit court.

It was stated that the following other county officials had agreed to abide by the ruling:

John M. Treager, sheriff.
Fred Block, board of review.
Frank Ryan, board of review.
James McInerney, clerk, Appellate court.
Henry Shekard, county treasurer.
Michael Sheridan, board of assessors.
Joseph Connerly, county recorder.
Frank Koraleski, board of assessors.
Michael McGrath, clerk of the Superior court.
Robert M. Switzer, county clerk.
John Czerwinski, clerk of the Probate court.
J. J. Cermak, chief bailiff, Municipal court.
Frank P. Dumasch, chief clerk, Municipal court.

The new Tammany organization also, it was stated, might extend to the state treasuries and take in some of Gov. Dunne's

Miss Ruth Agar, with the assistance of the undergraduate council of the University of Chicago, is giving a dance at the Hyde Park hotel next Tuesday for the benefit of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children. appointees. This conclusion was drawn by Sullivan men from the fact that John P. Gibbons, chief state grain inspector; Thomas Walsh, Harrison-Dunne committeeman in the Third ward, and Frank Paschen, Harrison committeeman in the Twenty-sixth ward, all voted for the resolution at last night's meeting, which was held at the Hotel Sherman.

Sanitary District Trustee James M. Dalley, new chairman of the managing committee, and Dennis J. Egan, chief clerk of the election board, arranged the program.

Judges Understood In on It.
The same domination of judicial patronage by the managing committee was understood in the meeting, which was held behind locked doors, to be included in the spirit of the resolution.

The passing of the resolution was sandwiched in between the discussions of plans for electing the Democratic judicial slate in June. Unless the judges, if elected, object to the program themselves, they will be expected to insist on applicants for positions as bailiffs and masters in chancery securing indorsement of ward organizations and the managing committee.

The managing committee, as now constituted, will not stand behind any ward organization that attempts to ignore it in putting men on the payrolls.

The only one county official, some leaders stated, who is not certain as yet to go along with the plan, is State's Attorney Macfarlane Hoynes. He is out of the city. A spokesman for the committee stated, however, that he understood Mr. Hoynes was willing to agree to the arrangement.

FOSTER'S STAND FOR LITTLE ARMY PERILS HIS SEAT

W. Duff Piercy Groomed to Oppose Congressman Against Adequate Defense.

Congressman Martin D. Foster, one of the Illinois "little army" men, who went on record at Washington against adequate defense measures, is threatened with a lot of difficulty in getting back to congress from the Twenty-third district. His vote on the army bill is said to have doubled the trouble that has been cooking for him in the Vandellia territory.

The ten Illinois "little army" congressmen follow:

John C. McKee, Republican member of the military affairs committee, from the Lowden district.
Martha D. Foster, Democrat, of the Vandellia district.
Henry T. Rainey, ranking Democratic member of the ways and means committee, of the Jacksonville district.
W. A. Rodeberg, Republican, of the East St. Louis district.
John A. Sterling, Republican, of the Bloomington district.
Thomas S. Williams, Republican, serving his first term from the Shawneetown district.

Clyde H. Traverser, Democrat, of the Rock Island district.
William E. Williams, Democrat, congressman at large, and now candidate for governor.

A. J. Sabath, Democrat, of the southwest side district of Chicago.
Frank Buchanan, Democrat, of the Chicago northwest side district.
With the exception of Williams, all the "little army" squad from Illinois expect to be candidates for reelection.

W. Duff Piercy Groomed.
State Senator W. Duff Piercy of Mount Vernon, who had expected to be a candidate against Dr. Foster two years ago, is being groomed for the Democratic nomination against Foster, and his chances for nomination are said to be excellent, in view of sentiment in the district, normally Democratic, but altogether for adequate defense.

Foster's district is the "saddle-back" district of southern Illinois, in which the Republican legislature potted all Democratic counties that could be latched together. In it are the counties of Clinton, Fayette, Marion, Jefferson, Edinburg, Jasper, Crawford, Richland, Lawrence and Wabash.

Long Record Saves Him.
Foster went to congress in 1906 and stood well with the people of his district, as the report comes from Egypt, until his recent vote on the army bill. He has been threatened with a fight within his own party, but because of his prestige as a member of the Democratic organization in Washington, due to long service, he has been able until now to keep prospective opponents backed away from the nomination.

The story goes that Senator Piercy was restrained from entering the contest in 1914 by assurance that Congressman Foster would not seek a re-nomination this year.

The report from the district now is that Piercy's announcement may be expected at any time and that Foster will have to fight for his political existence.

G. O. P. DEADLOCK IN COOK SLATED TO END MAY 22

Absence of Mayor and Brundage Causes County Committee Recess.

The Republican county committee deadlock will be smashed May 22 and a chairman will be elected. This is the forecast from all three factions that have been unable to elect a county chairman for the new committee.

An agreement between Brundage and Thompson factions, whereby William H. Weber would have been elected, nearly went over yesterday, and probably would have been consummated, had Mayor Thompson and Edward J. Brundage been in town.

Take Another Recess.
The committee met at Hotel La Salle, and immediately took a recess until May 22. Some Deneen men wanted a roll call on the recess motion, by which they hoped to force a record lineup of city hall and Brundage committeemen. Some didn't and there was nothing exciting happened.

After the recess, gossip went around that Brundage managers might not be able to deliver their entire strength and negotiations were reopened between the Deneen camp and certain Brundage committeemen that may overturn the Brundage-city hall program.

In any event, the Deneen people said, there will be a straight Deneen primary slate for state and county tickets, regardless of the ultimate solution of the chairmanship tieup.

BRYAN WILSON SUPPORTER.
HE TELLS IOWA DEMOCRATS
Former Secretary Announces Unqualified Assistance to President—Suffrage a Winner.

Des Moines, Ia., May 11.—(Special.)—An unqualified declaration that he would support Wilson for president was made today by William J. Bryan to I. T. Jones, a prominent Iowa Democrat. Mr. Bryan, in utterances today during his speeches, gave the same indication as to his attitude.

Mr. Bryan is making a five day tour of Iowa in behalf of equal suffrage and prohibition. He has spoken at ten towns and cities in two days and was greeted by record crowds at nearly every place.

"Iowa is surely going to vote for woman suffrage if these crowds are any indication," Mr. Bryan said today.

A single new fact on his horizon made Columbus the discoverer of the New World.
(Probably you know what it was.)

—and Newton

A single fortunate observation enabled Newton to establish the law of gravitation.
(It was not the fall of the apple.)

—and Faraday

A chance reading of an old encyclopaedia turned Michael Faraday, poor bookbinder's apprentice, into the greatest experimental genius of his age.

—and a Girl!

Spending her free evenings delving in a work of reference gave a girl in a store information that jumped her salary from $12 to $50 a week.
(The same great work that, in an old edition, inspired Faraday, over a hundred years ago.)

—about YOU!

YOU might find in this same work one new fact—gain one new suggestion which might be worth to you many times what it would cost you. (We know of men who have.)

Needless almost to say what this great work is. You know it well by name. For 148 years it has been, as the New York Times said of it, "not a set of books, but a great institution."

THE ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA

(Now to be had in the new Eleventh Edition, at a phenomenally low price.)

But maybe—
You are among those who instinctively think of the Encyclopaedia Britannica as only for scholars, educators and professional men—as the picturesque phrase goes, a work for "high-brows."

That is perfectly natural. Most scholars, educators and professional men do own it—95 Harvard professors and instructors, 75 at Columbia and so on.

(Throughout the English-speaking world there is probably not a score of colleges or libraries that do not possess this standard work of reference. The New York Public Library has 25 sets of the new Eleventh Edition.)

But it is not valuable for "high-brows"—alone. It is equally valuable for you. —and we would like you to realize this.

So we have prepared a richly illustrated book with nearly 200 illustrations of the most varied character and of real interest, with a hundred bits of curious information, endeavoring to present this new work from a hundred different points of view.

—and prove its value to you.
We send you this 130-page book post free—simply cut out the coupon below and return it with your name and address. Understand that we shall be glad to send you this book no matter if you haven't the slightest idea of buying the Britannica now. Because maybe some day you will. And the book itself is interesting and worth your while.

We suggest you send your name promptly, while the present printing lasts.
N.B. We hope that you know of the wonderful new "Handy Volume" issue, unabridged, at one-third the prices for the larger sized Cambridge University issue, and that we ship to you the entire 23 volumes, complete, upon the first payment of a single dollar. ## "NO LOVE LOST" 'TWIXT TEUTONS AND BULGARIANS

"Our Allies Are Robbers," Title of the Balkan Nation's Marching Song.

This is the ninth of a series of articles by Mrs. Mildred Farwell.
Another will appear tomorrow.

BY MILDRED FARWELL.

(Copyright 1916, By The Tribune Company.)
If we found the Germans pleasant, the Bulgarians did not. They were quite open in their dislike of them, and not only believed but spread every disagreeable story they could. In the newspapers all the little allies are supposed to love one another, but I think, like neutrals, they come in for a lot of criticism.

"O yes," the Bulgarians would say,
"those Germans are bad people. They did dreadful things in Belgium. Monstrous things, that we got it first and not the Germans."

The new marching song of the Bulgarians that was whistled and sung by everyone was, "Our allies are robbers."
They considered it a great joke on the Germans and explained that it had been written during the last Bulgarian war but never used, but they found it came in nicely for this one. "Our allies are robbers," they could say, and wink.

Bulgars Can't Let Go.

"To gain satisfaction, we would have killed ourselves with the devil," was a saying.

"Didn't you?" some wag asked them.
They were in the position of one who wishes to get something for nothing.
The war, as far as they were concerned, was over. We asked one soldier if he wanted to go back to the front.

"My God, no," he answered. The Bulgarians had got what they wanted, and they were not allowed to sit down and enjoy it. They began to realize that after the war their enjoyment would be shared by rather too many uncomfortably permanent German guests.

At first they had not a doubt of the outcome. Toward the last I noticed a great deal of uneasiness.

They say all women love brass buttons. In a town where every man wears them you soon cease to be impressed.
The first sight of a regiment marching brings a thrill, but when you see those same soldiers carrying their officers distinctly, red soup in wash basins, trying to be careful but spilling it all over themselves and the street, or a brave captain ceasing to be military walking as if his corn hurt him, you forget the heroic and only see how sordid it all is.

Funeral Becomes Amusing.

I remember the funeral of a promising Bulgarian division commander that anywhere else would have been pathetic.
At the front it was only amusing.

The other correspondent and I, after a vain quest for news, were walking home
by Kral Peter when we met a procession. Gendarmes were importantly shoing the crowd to the side of the street. A passing motorist, dog frightened, charged blindly away from one of them and into the leading soldier carrying a great cross.
Almost upset, he giggled and hastily composed his face.

Behind the chanting Greek priests in their robes came the body of a man in a rag, the motion making his head roll from side to side, all the officers in Mon-astir following. Every sort of uniform—blue coats, brown coats, gray coats, spiked helmets, flat caps, fat men, thin men, tall men, and short men—were in the procession.

Commander Appears Cross.

The little German colonel in command of the forces, every inch a soldier, but only 5 feet high, stepping along on his toes as if on red hot bricks, his head shaved to the pink skin under his spiked helmet, his eyes emitting commanding sparks. No one on earth could possibly have felt as cross as he looked. Gen.
Boyagieff toddled along beside him like

HAY BILL FRAMED FOR SPECIAL ARMY INTERESTS

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.

To many the question of the adoption of the Hay or Chamberlain bill seems merely a question of numbers, that is, whether the army is to have 140,000 men or 250,000.
The defeat of the attempt to instruct the house conferees to vote for 250,000 seemed to settle the question in favor of Hay. Since it has been reported that the conferees have agreed on an army of 180,000.

Whether the bill finally agreed upon calls for 140,000, 180,000, or 250,000 is a relatively unimportant matter. What is of the utmost importance is whether or not the bill agreed upon carries the most important principles of the Chamberlain bill or the most vicious provisions of the Hay bill. In other words, whether our army is to be organized on broad general principles in accordance with the best interests of the nation as a whole and the army as a whole, or merely to satisfy the selfish interests of individuals and parts of the army.

Hay Backs the Interests.

Mr. Hay's previous history shows him to be a supporter of special interests and to be ignorant of or deliberately ignore that organization of an army shown to be correct by the military experience of all other countries.

For years he has fought the battle of the staff corps and departments in order that they might remain virtually independent of and stronger than the general staff. The general staff should have the power to coordinate all parts of the army.
The fight between Gen. Alsworth and Gen. Wood was at bottom this same struggle, in which Gen. Alsworth represented the staff corps and was supported by Mr. Hay.

One of the results of this fight was that Mr. Hay succeeded in having inserted in the army appropriation bill for 1915
a provision which would have prevented the president from having Gen. Wood as chief of staff. The president promptly vetoed the bill. In the second bill Mr.
Hay succeeded in cutting down the already too small general staff and would have cut it still further had not pressure been successfully applied.

A Punitive Measure.

This cut was for the purpose of reducing the power of the general staff and to punish those officers of it who supported Gen. Wood in his endeavor to put the general staff on the proper basis. Since the beginning of the present conference
Mr. Hay has fought against a divisional organization for the army and the formation of the proper staffs to command

these divisions.
One of the most obvious defects in our army is the lack of permanent brigades and divisions commanded by general officers with proper staffs who are given the opportunity to actually command in the field. Mr. Hay has fought for a provision which would allow the staff corps to virtually pick the best officers from the line of the army, detail them to these corps, and only return them to a year at a time once in every five years.
Such a provision if passed could only mean that service in the line, the fighting branch of the army, would present no advantages, but the reverse, while service in the staff corps, which are in reality for the comfort and convenience of the line, would present every advantage.

Would Hurt Efficiency.

In other words, it would be a question of but a short time until the hopeless position of line officers would seriously affect the efficiency of the fighting branches of the service.

Hay's opposition to the volunteer army provision, section 56, of Mr. Chamberlain's bill, is in response to a lobby, which, while claiming to represent the national guard as a whole, probably does nothing of the kind. With our small forces there is plenty of room both for the national guard if it remains primarily under the state control and for a federal volunteer force as well.

Mr. Hay's bill does not provide for a real federalization in name only. There is little doubt that the vast majority of the line officers and soldiers of the national guard would favor real federalization, as they know it to be the only remedy for the majority of the evils from which they suffer at the present time.

Would Out Chiefs' Power.

However, this would lessen the power of the guard, who are therefore opposed to it.
Every one of Hay's measures, every one of Hay's acts, when analyzed, almost invariably show him to be supporting some special interest which in return can work for him, as against the common good, which too often has no vigorous supporters.

We can never have any proper national defense till we have federal control of all parts of it exercised primarily by a proper general staff which is a continuous body, and by its very organization can never favor or be in the control of any individual or special interest, but must work for an efficient army economically run, and therefore for the best interest of the nation as a whole.

a comfortable old farmer, in a long,
shapeless brown coat, surrounded by the staff.

We had stopped to watch, and my companion stood at attention. Every eye in the procession went eyes left toward us.
The Austrian attaché still walking, turned around to give us a beaming salute and bow. Officers of the Bulgarian regiments following, seeing the staff salute, saluted, too, also with eyes left.

They all hurried past. Some of the soldiers outpaced would give a hoot and finally Gen. Boyagieff's automobile.

Give Ball on New Year's Eve.

His aide asked the correspondent that night:

"Why did the American lady keep one eye shut when we passed her? Could it be possible that she was laughing at us?"
On New Year's day, by the old style calendar celebrated two weeks after ours, men dressed in fur coats with masks, evidently to give the impression of animals, begged from door to door, dancing a rough dance du ventre. At night the Bulgarians gave a ball. All Monastir took it seriously as a great social event, and the girls got out their white shoes.

We Americans were not asked, but a German officer told me that Gen. Boya-gieff, aged and bearded, and a little German colonel in command, dancing together a native hore, was the funniest sight in the world.

Guns Usher in New Year.

At midnight, waked from a sound sleep of the uninvited by a gun, I had a wild thought. The French at last! It was only the New Year's salute. Twenty-four guns boomed across the blackness.
I could feel as if I could see them. All over the town the stir of the peasants starting up from their beds in terror.

PRESIDENT AND LITTLE NAVY MEN BLOCK DEFENSE

Wilson Mum on Army Bill He Wants—Democrats Hold Up Warship Measure.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 11.—[Special.]— Progress on the national defense program has come to an abrupt halt because President Wilson refuses to tell congress exactly what he wants in the nature of an army bill and because the little navy men are fighting to delay a vote on the naval building plans until next week.

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, appeared tonight there is a possibility the conferees may reach an agreement on a regular army of 180,000 men, peace strength, which can be recruited up in imminence of war to 216,000 men. Unless such an agreement is reached, however, Senator Chamberlain said, there is no chance for the conferees to get together on anything less.

For No Bagatelle Army.

"I will insist upon a complete disagreement with the house in preference to accepting a bagatelle army," said the senator tonight.

While the house and senate conferees were struggling over the army bill today, the members of the house naval affairs committee were wrangling over their measure.

Some time ago the navy committee, by unanimous consent, set the day for the building program. When the members of the committee gathered, Chairman Padgett announced that several of the little navy men were unavoidably absent, and inasmuch as they wanted to vote on the measure in person the balloting would be postponed until next Thursday.

This announcement aroused a storm of protests from the Republicans on the committee. Representative Britton of Illinois asserted that the Democrats were proposing delaying the measure in order to cut it down.

Britton Urges Speed.

"Let's vote on Monday," he said.

The motion was put and the Padgett forces beat it. Britton next proposed Tuesday and then Wednesday and again
the Democrats beat him on each motion.

"Put it over until Thursday," he said,
"but do it on your own responsibility.
For my part I want to say you fellows make me tired. Your president has gone about the country yelling calamity and extreme emergency and you and he sit here in Washington, now that he's had his trip, and refuse to turn a hand to get anything."

"When the people wake up to the fact that not a single submarine, destroyer, cruiser, or battleship ordered under the Wilson administration will be completed during the Wilson administration they'll see just how sincere you Democrats and your Democratic president are in your pretense for preparedness."

"Not Trying to Prepare."

Mr. Britton left the committee room in a hurry. After the meeting he said his statement concerning the progress of the building under the Wilson administration is absolutely correct.

"Not only that," he continued, "but if Mr. Wilson and his administration wanted to prepare this country for an emergency they would be apportioning the construction of ships in the various government and private shipyards throughout the country."

The Democrats probably will vote out a measure containing provision for four capital ships, two battle cruisers and two dreadnaughts.

The Republicans, led by Congressman Roberts of Massachusetts, Butler of Pennsylvania, and Britten of Illinois, probably will ask for six or seven capital ships.

The general board has said it will take fourteen to put the United States back in second place in two years.

"I believe we ought to follow the general board's advice," said Mr. Britten.
"It may seem like we are asking for a great deal all at once, but don't forget that the Democrats came into control of congress in 1911 and immediately began to pare defense appropriations in order to put more money into the pork barrel.
Much of what we will fight for now will be to make up for the Democratic defense deficiency and their pork extrava-ganzas."

Mr. Britten then pointed out that the general board had stated in its report to the secretary of the navy recently that the decline of the navy began when the Democrats obtained control of the house in the 1910 election.

M.E. CONFERENCE UPHOLDS PRESS FREEDOM

Announces Proposed Law Restricting Liberties of Newspapers.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON, Chicago, N. Y., May 11.—[Special.]—The freedom of the press was vigorously defended and the name of The Chicago Tribune was read into the records at the annual session of the Methodist general conference.

The defender of the freedom of the press was the Rev. Dr. George Elliott of Chicago, who spoke in opposition to the proposed law, which proposes to place in the hands of the postmaster general the power to exclude from the mails any newspaper which he judges to be "obscene, immoral, or of a character calculated to excite racial hatred or prejudice."

"We are children of liberty," said Dr. Elliott. "We are the Puritan revolutionaries who wrote in defense of the freedom of the press."

"No other way is life, knowledge, and progress possible except by publicity. The value of our liberty of speech will be lost if we surrender it to the postmaster general."

"I think these scurrilous publications which are aimed at by this proposed law are the people they condemn more than they harm them."

A standing vote was called for and there were only three votes against the resolutions.

"Tribune" Is Quoted.

The Tribune got into the records by being quoted in a resolution condemning lynching. The resolution was returned to the state of the church.

A resolution commending the Tribune bill giving congress authority to make a minimum national law on marriage and divorce under which divorces granted anywhere in the United States shall be valid everywhere else and children legitimate anywhere shall be legitimate everywhere, but allowing any state to rise above the national minimum standard, was introduced by the Rev. Dr. W. R. Wedderburn of Washington, D. C. It was referred to the committee on public morals.

Episcopal Report Tomorrow.

The selection of next Saturday as the time for the report on the episcopacy and the taking of the first ballot aroused interest among the delegates. The date for consecrating the new bishops was fixed for May 24.

Although thirty-six delegates of the Chicago Episcopal area appeared before the committee on episcopacy today and requested the return of Bishop W. F. McDowell, it appears that Bishop McDowell will not be sent back to Chicago. Bishop Hughes seems to be slated for return.

SHERMAN FLAILS BIG "PORK" BILL

Urges Revising or Defeating Measure—Pleads for Illinois Waterway.

MADDEN ATTACKS BILL.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.] Washington, D. C., May 11.—[Special.]—Senator Sherman of Illinois today took up the fight on the $42,000,000 river and harbor pork barrel bill in the senate.

The Illinois senator vigorously criticized many of the items in the measure and asserted that he believed the country would be benefited by the country if the senate has to choose between the measure as it stands and no bill at all.

Replying to attacks on his sincerity of purpose in opposing the bill, Senator Sherman said:

"Those senators informed the senate that I was extremely solicitous with respect to all items for Illinois and extremely economical with respect to the entire United States outside of Illinois. I asked that only one item be inserted in this bill. In the judgment of the committee my request was a reasonable one."

Pleads for Illinois Waterway.

"My request was that Illinois be allowed to expend $5,000,000 of its own money in building a waterway sixty-five miles long, which is needed to give a deep waterway from Chicago to the Gulf. I did not ask for a single cent from the federal government."

"The committee, acting on recommendations other than my own, included something over $85,000 for the Chicago harbor, the Chicago river, the Calumet river, and the Illinois river. But if the senate will follow the request of certain senators that these items be stricken from the bill because I have seen fit to oppose the measure, and then, in addition will strike from the bill the millions appropriated for indefensible projects in these senators' states, I will not protest."

At this point Senator Lewis of Illinois asked Senator Sherman to yield.

"What my colleague says is absolutely correct," Senator Lewis said. "Illinois asks nothing from the federal government except permission to build its deep waterway. Illinois does not need and does not want a contribution from the government. With respect to the other items for Illinois, my colleague did not seek their inclusion in this bill. I, however, did request members of the committee to insert them."

Madden Also Attacks "Pork."

Congressman Madden today scored members of the house who declined to support a measure seeking to cut down the number of postmasters in the United States. He denounced them as devotees of postal "pork."

The congressman asserted that by wiping out many postoffices and making them substations; by taking the postmasters out of spots politics, and placing the offices in charge of civil service men, more than $10,000,000 annually could be saved to the government.

He called to the attention of the house that the postmaster general has recommended the county unit plan for postoffices throughout the country.

"That is one of the few good recommendations he has made," said Mr. Madden.

Under existing law, Mr. Madden said, it is almost impossible to increase the efficiency of the postal service.

PARMELEE TAXI RATE IMPERILED BY AMENDMENT

Wording of Proposed Ordinance Intended to Include Station Cabs.

An amendment to the city code that may cut into the profits of the Parmelee Taxi Transfer company to such an extent that it will consider surrendering its depot cab monopoly was completed yesterday by the city law department. It was sent to Mayor Thompson's office and probably will be transmitted to the city council next Monday night for adoption.

Will Include Parmelee Cabs.

Corporation Counsel Eitelson believes that the proposed change in the ordinance will bring the Parmelee cabs under the provisions of the taxicab ordinance, which limits the fares that may be charged and requires the use of meters. Until this time the company has escaped these regulations by contending that its cabs could not be classified as public automobiles under the language of the code describing such vehicles.

The present ordinance covers automobiles that are allowed to "stand or be kept upon any public way or street or upon any street or public way in the city." The Parmelee company's cabs do not use public stands, but are kept on private property until they are called into use.

Text of Amendment.

The amendment defines a public automobile every motor car "which is operated on the streets of the city for the purpose of carrying or conveying passengers from place to place for hire or reward and responds to calls or request of transients or the general public for that purpose."

The contention of the company concerning the language of the present ordinance was sustained by the Appellate court after one of its drivers had been fined $10 by a Municipal Judge. The new ordinance was drafted by Charles E. Peace, assistant corporation counsel, who holds that the courts will sustain it.

Portsmouth, N. The man disappeared. Acting Commandant Klemann ordered the water dragged to determine whether the man had been killed and fallen in.

TRY GASOLINE SUBSTITUTE WITH MODERATE SUCCESS.

Fluid Which Costs Three Cents a Gallon Impels Six Cylinder Car a Short Distance.

Stoneham, Mass., May 11.—[Special.]—Partial success was conceded the gasoline substitute invented by Charles Otis Hunter and Daniel E. Smith in a demonstration today in the presence of a number of newspaper men and of C. F. Smith, fuel expert of the Edison company.

A six cylinder automobile was used in the test, all the gasoline being drawn from it before the substitute liquid, which costs three cents a gallon, was put in the tank. Mr. Hunter said not enough of the fluid was used to give it a chance. It drove the car about 300 yards and then balked.

The ingredients of the new fluid are water, a black powder looking like lamp-black, a light green liquid that smells like carbolic acid, vinegar, and a tablespoonful of what looked like the same green liquid.

URGENT STUDENTS TO TAKE COURSE IN 'CABARETING'

U. of C. Sociologists Rouse Enthusiasm Over Plan to Study Night Life.

The sociologists at the University of Chicago have decided that this cabaret business has hung fire long enough, and they are going out tomorrow night—men and women both—to make independent investigations and reports.

There has been quite a stir on the campus, both in classrooms and in meetings, about the cabaret and dance hall situation, and professors of the sociology department have been encouraging students to see for themselves. The immediate impetus for the campaign of investigation was given in the discussion which followed a meeting of the University Forum, a club organized to discuss political questions, held yesterday afternoon in Harper assembly room.

Need No Urging.
Mrs. Charles E. Merriam, wife of the university professor, and Warren Brown, professor in the sociology department, addressed a large meeting of men and women on cabaret and dance hall conditions. During the informal discussion at the end of the meeting, Mr. Brown suggested that groups of students set aside Saturday night for investigation of the places which have obtained special permission to stay open until 1, and asked that those wishing to do this report to him for assignment to a hall or cabaret.

By last night over twenty groups of two or four had volunteered to undertake the investigation. Among them were several women. It is hoped that most of the privileged cabarets will be visited. The suggestion that women be permitted to accompany the men on the campaign was made by Mrs. Brown, secretary to Mrs. G. M. Mathes, chairman of the civic department of the state federation of women's clubs.

Smoot May Prosecute.
If State's Attorney Hoyne approves, Harry E. Smoot, attorney for the Juvenile Protective association, will be given full jurisdiction in the prosecution of the cabaret cases instituted by that organization.

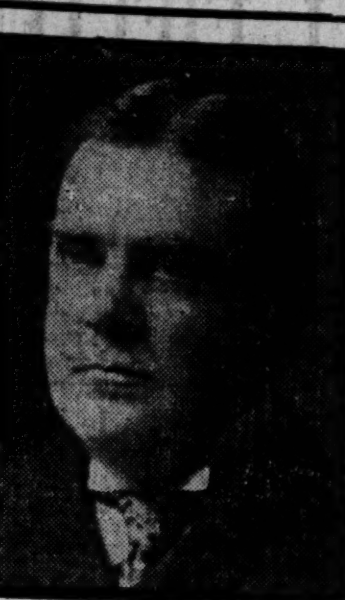

Mr. Hoyne is out of the city, but is expected back on Monday. The plan then will be presented to him by Corporation Counsel Ettelson, who suggested it to Mr. Smoot yesterday. Mr. Ettelson, Mr. Smoot, and City Prosecutor Miller held a conference, during which the entire situation was discussed. There it was agreed that the appointment of Mr. Smoot was a logical step.

Chief Goes Cabaretting.
Chief of Police Healy told reporters that he went "cabaretting" on Wednesday night and found conditions good except for two violations of the 1 o'clock closing ordinance, one on the south side and one on the west side.

"I shall wait and see if the captain in these districts report the violations," he said. "If they don't I shall call them into my office for an explanation."

College Boy Disappears.
The Chicago police were asked yesterday to look in the search for Carroll P. Edwards, 20 years old, a junior student at Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., who disappeared from there last 29. Edwards is the son of J. W. Edwards, Indiana agent for the Provident Life and Trust company.

J. McCan Davis
Born Nov. 19, 1866. Died May 11, 1916.

J. McCAN DAVIS DIES SUDDENLY

Former Clerk of Supreme Court Expires at His Springfield Home.

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—[Special.]—J. McCan Davis, former clerk of the Illinois Supreme court and Republican candidate for congressman at large in 1914 died suddenly from apoplexy at his home in this city tonight.

Mr. Davis had been in ill health for several days, but his condition was not considered serious. He was able to be out late this afternoon and expired a short time after his return home.

FORMER NEWSPAPER MAN.
Mr. Davis started his career as a newspaper correspondent here, "covering" the state legislature for a number of years for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

He was the author of "Breaking the Deadlock," the book which describes the 1904 state Republican convention which nominated C. S. Deneen for governor after a long fight.

Eight years ago Mr. Davis started an advertising campaign as a candidate before the primaries for clerk of the Supreme court of Illinois. He was nominated and elected. He was a candidate for reelection, but was defeated by Charles Vall, incumbent.

Candidate for Congress.
Three years ago Mr. Davis was a candidate for congressman at large. He was defeated and began a contest, which was thrown out at Washington after two years.

Early last winter Mr. Davis was the victim of a peculiar accident which cost the sight of one of his eyes and for a time threatened to blind him. With a number of state officials and other politicians Mr. Davis was making the journey from Springfield to Chicago. He was engaged in trimming his eyebrows with a pair of manicure scissors when the train came to a sudden halt, throwing him forward and jamming the scissors blade into his eye. On his arrival at Chicago he was rushed to a hospital, where treatment saved one of his eyes.

Takes Night Rider at Kewanee.
Kewanee, Ill., May 11.—[Special.]—Sheriff Wyckoff of Greenville, Ky., came here today and took back Richard Bethel, arrested here on a charge of night riding in Kentucky.

SIMAN YEARNS TO RELEASE GRIP ON THAT BEAR

Finds He Seized Rampaging Bruin by Perilling Devon Saloon Licenses.

Gr-r! Gr-r! Gr-r-r!
When City Clerk Siman stopped the issuance of licenses for saloons the reformers said are within the Northwestern university prohibition zone he grabbed a bear by the tail.

He hung on all day yesterday looking for a chance to let go.

"You've got to let go!" warned Corporation Counsel Ettelson from a safe place, while man and bear danced around and around, but the city clerk held on.

"Let go or you'll get hurt!" warned the brewery interests, but the man still clung to the bear.

Hopes Bear Is Reasonable.
But today he expects to find a good place to take his hands off. If the bear will submit to arbitration the city clerk will go back to city clerking.

It was discovered the situation was not so serious as had been pictured. The licenses of all but eight of the twenty-nine saloons listed by the Chicago Law and Order league as over the four mile limit in the Devon avenue district had been issued before Mr. Siman made his sudden decision. Most of these were small saloons on Devon avenue and Clark street.

Mr. Ettelson took a hand in the situation because Mr. Siman said he acted on an opinion given him by the law department. Mr. Ettelson called him to his office and explained the opinion merely was a repetition of others given for several years back and that it held merely that if the twenty-nine saloons were—and he emphasized "were"—in the four mile zone their licenses were invalid.

Here Comes The Punch.
Then, according to an unofficial historian, he said something like this:

"Mr. Siman, you can't maintain your present position. The power of issuing licenses rests solely in the mayor. The city clerk acts merely in a clerical capacity and he has no power to grant or revoke the right to sell liquor. His capacity is similar to that of the clerk of a court who enters the orders of the judge. You will have to recede."

Then Louis Sallinger, former assistant corporation counsel, engaged as attorney for the saloons, said his piece, something like this:

"You have no right to withhold a license granted by the mayor. If you do you do it at your own risk. If you injure the business of one of these men—if your action results in closing his saloon and he then proves that his saloon is outside the four mile limit, you will be responsible personally for his losses."

Waves the Olive Branch.

Then Mr. Siman spoke:
"I have asked representatives of the Law and Order league and the saloonkeepers to come to a conference in my office tomorrow afternoon. I believe some agreement can be reached whereby a survey will be made to determine the boundaries of the four mile zone or something of that sort done to end this difficulty forever."

The council committee on license placed on file Ald. Henry Capitani's resolution asking Mayor Thompson to revoke all liquor licenses within the prohibited territory.

LEPER IN CITY GOES TO WORK

Health Department Places No Restraints on Man with Plague.

LONG DISEASE'S VICTIM.

A "silver man" with hands as numb as a glove from leprosy in Chicago, living with his family and going daily to his work, with associates who are unaware of his condition.

The leper is a patient of Dr. E. A. Christofferson, whose office is at 2704 Washington boulevard. For twelve years the patient has traveled all over the United States without restraint, nothing where he would, and himself ignorant that he was touched with the "unclean plague" which in biblical times was curable only by miracle. He has been repeatedly examined, but physicians unfamiliar with leprosy have treated him for another disease.

Address Is Withheld.
Dr. Christofferson yesterday refused to give the name or address of his patient, on the ground that it would result in the ostracism of himself and family by their friends.

"I have reported the case to the health board," he said, "but I do not purpose to make the name public. It would be unjust to the man and his family."

Dr. Herman Spalding, chief of the bureau of contagious diseases, admitted that the health board had been notified of the case and that the leper was continuing at work with the board's full knowledge.

Still at His Job.
The man has been instructed to take care of himself and to safeguard others with whom he may come in contact," said Dr. Spalding. "If his name were made public it would mean that he probably would lose his position and suffer other hardships."

"We have no place provided for lepers, and, like New York and Philadelphia, must permit them to be at liberty. There is, or shortly will be, before congress a bill providing for a national home for the care of lepers, to which cases may be sent from anywhere in the United States. If the public is sufficiently interested to urge congress, the appropriation will be made undoubtedly."

O'Donnell and Thibau Now Face Reindictment on Movie Union Foul.

Judge McDonald yesterday instructed a jury to find Edward (Spike) O'Donnell, business agent for the local branch of the motion picture operators' union, and Michael Thibau not guilty of the murder of Hugh Coogan. Coogan was found dead on March 26 last. O'Donnell was identified by the state's witnesses as having fired at Coogan earlier in the evening. Assistant State's Attorney John K. Murphy went immediately before the May grand jury to have the two men reindicted on charges of assault with intent to murder. The grand jurors voted a true bill and the indictment is expected shortly.

AVOIDS MANN ACT CHARGE TO FACE ABDUCTION TRIAL

George L. Kamm Arrested on Complaint of Mother of Edith Peckham After Crown Point Trip.

It is a case of out of the frying pan into the fire for George L. Kamm of 1501 East Sixtieth street.

He was arrested yesterday by detectives on the charge of abducting Miss Edith Peckham, 20 years old, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Peckham, 1546 East Sixty-third street.

Kamm, according to Mrs. Peckham, took her daughter to Crown Point, Ind., a while back. They remained there one day. Kamm promised to marry the girl, it is alleged. The federal authorities seized him for alleged violation of the Mann act. Prosecution was dropped.

Judge Patrick B. Flanagan in the Hyde Park court continued the case to May 23. Kamm, who used to work in a drug store near the Peckham home, denies all the allegations.

With the two men wounded in the labor shooting in Hodcarriers' hall on Wednesday night steadfastly refusing to give the name of their assailant, and all the eighty or more men who were in the hall denying they saw the shots fired, the police yesterday admitted this bit of sun play might be added to the other scores of unexplained labor shootings.

Joseph P. Cooney and Bert Connors, the wounded men, are still in the hospital, and though their injuries are dangerous, have a chance for recovery.

Thomas Walsh, business agent of local No. 73, Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' International alliance, is still sought by the police. Connors was after Walsh's position at the cooling election, and Cooney was seeking to displace the president, Thomas Redding.

Ratzoll Brothers Charged with Failing to Keep Names Posted.

STORY TOLD BY EMPLOYEE.

A complaint seeking the revocation of the licenses of four dentists operating at 1111 Milwaukee avenue under the name of Ratzoll Bros. was filed yesterday with the state board of dental examiners. The names are:
Dr. Paul A. Ratzoll.
Dr. Paul A. Pichl.
Dr. Albert F. Galtman.
The main complaint, signed by Dr. George N. West of the Chicago Dental society, charges them with "failing, neglecting and refusing" to place their names on the door. But there are several supplemental and more serious charges based on a statement made to Assistant Attorney General Richard H. O'Leary by an operator who was formerly employed by Ratzoll Brothers. These are:
Willfully advising employees to do an inferior grade of work in order to make more speed.
Putting on many crowns without devaluing the pulp.
Joining crowns on without doing anything to the teeth.
Refuses to do Poor Work.
The dentist said he had left the employ of the firm because of the methods employed, and of course, the kind of work expected of assistants.
"The whole policy seemed to be to ruin the patients through and get the money," he said. "Many cases came to my attention of jamming on crowns without a proper attempt at devaluing the pulp, and of course, the patients suffered as a result. The operators were not expected to devote too much time to grinding a tooth. It was a shame to see how some of the work was done."
A complaint of treatment received at the Illinois Dental offices at 21 East Van Buren street was made by Mrs. C. H. Kraus of 108 West North avenue.
"I went to the Hayes place about a year ago," said Mrs. Kraus. "It was on May 7, 1915. I have the receipt here. I had a bridge on the upper left side by which three false teeth were fastened to the natural teeth. Instead of loosening this bridge the dentist jerked out this bridge and in doing so broke off both natural teeth at the roots.
"I suffered terribly. I had gone there because they advertised painless dentistry. I asked them to give me gas, but they refused. On the right side they pulled out a gold bridge and broke off an eye tooth.
"Goes to Another Dentist.
"By this time I was simply exhausted. I returned to the Hayes place and asked to let them go on with the work. I had to go to another dentist, and he told me my mouth was in a pretty bad condition. I had agreed to pay the Hayes place $35 for the work and I had given them $7 on account.
"I went back there and told them they would keep the money I had paid, despite the fact that I was worse off than when I went there. That I was going to another dentist and that I wanted them to do as was to give me back the bridges they had removed. The gold they had removed was worth $10. The man told me they wouldn't give me the bridges back unless I paid the rest of my contract." Calls Teeth Worthless.
"I agreed to pay them $25, and paid it," she said. "They took out my teeth and put in upper teeth and broke two of them while extracting them. I was so ill and nervous from the pain I was confined to my bed for three days. They refused to pull the two roots, and they were still in my mouth. The teeth they gave me were worse than the ones they took out. I had to go to another dentist, and he said he would not touch my teeth unless I paid him another set."
Mrs. D. W. Watkins of 4408 Indiana avenue holds receipts for $100 which she said she had paid to the Boston Dentists at 135 South State street for some bridge work.
"They put in a bridge, but the teeth wouldn't meet," said Mrs. Watkins. "They were almost far enough apart to put a pencil between. I couldn't chew with them and went back, but they declared they were all right and wouldn't make me another one unless I paid some more money. I finally had to go to another dentist. He told me that $25 was a high price for the kind of work that had been done and that it should not have cost me more than from $50 to $75 if it had been done properly."
F. M. Jacobson, alias Jacobson, has disappeared.

PRIZE "TRIBUNE" FIGHT

Illinois Dental Society In Convention Votes Thanks for Crusade Against Quacks.

Springfield, Ill., May 11.—[Special.]—A resolution praising The Tribune's campaign against dentists who advertise fraudulently and otherwise violate the law was passed by unanimous vote here today at the convention of the Illinois State Dental society.

The resolution voiced the spirit of the state convention which has taken place at this gathering to place itself squarely on record as actively as well as theoretically opposed to all charlatanism in the practice of their profession. The resolution follows:
"The Illinois State Dental society, in annual meeting assembled, desires to thank THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for the valuable assistance it is giving the Illinois state board of dental examiners, and the great public service they are rendering by the campaign of publicity they are now conducting against the unscrupulous dental fakers."

DENTIST BACK IN CITY: WILL TESTIFY AT INQUEST.

Dr. Charles E. Lietzman Denies His Leaving Was Because of Suicide of Girl.

Dr. Charles E. Lietzman, manager of the Boston Dentists at 135 South State street, returned to Chicago yesterday. He denied that his departure from the city had any connection with charges made against him by Miss Letitia Marks, the girl who committed suicide by swallowing poison.
"I have notified the police that I will be on hand to testify when the inquest is continued," said Dr. Lietzman. "My conscience is clear in this matter. I had not been out with Miss Marks for the last eighteen months. I was called to East St. Louis on important business and did not go away because of this affair, unfortunate as it is."

BY KITTY KELLY.

THE Strand's offering this week presents William S. Hart in an interesting and unusual production. The "Primal Lure" reflects rather more to the manner than to the theme, for in final analysis "The Primal Lure" is one of our commonest of the past, a real wild western. But it is so rare in photography, location, playing, and psychology that, though the hero begins his career at the stake by the rampaging Indians, it stands as a photograph, not a sensation.

The scene is laid in the big woods country, in a little stockade belonging to the Hudson Bay company, where the factor, Angus McConnell, stern and righteous Scotman, rules rigidly over the little band of fur trappers, the time being seven or eight hundred years ago. There comes a villain, and complications, and the Blackfoot siege.

Angus McConnell is William S. Hart, that sterling player, who stands again every inch a man, and there are a good many inches of him, more than a photograph.

The little girl playing opposite him, Marjorie Wilson, seems a find. She is attractive, and simple in her playing. Her features are a trifle heavy for enlarged close-ups, but her facial mobility keeps a certain change of expression in play, so that she is quite fascinating to watch.

While not at all wonderful, the photography is very satisfactory in its beauty, its clarity, and its excellent production.

A New Way to Make a Person Miserable.

Produced by Emile Chautard. Directed by Emile Chautard.

Presented at the Columbia. Robert Crewe, Robert Warwick, Marion Crewe, Gerda Holmes, Suzanne, Clara Whipple, Little Emily, Madge Evans.

ABOUT as mediocre as they make "em—that is "Sudden Riches." The action starts some thirty-two years before, when the hero's father wins the girl his brother courted. Thus was laid the foundation for the lifelong hatred cherished by uncle for the offspring, and never satisfied till at his death he willed the innocent youth $1,000,000 for the special purpose of making him miserable. And miserable he proceeds to become, in all the ramifications possible.

Robert Warwick, as the hero, heir of the million, expresses emotion with his handkerchief and assumes portly attitudes before the camera. Gerda Holmes, formerly with Essanay, and contributing to the forgettable fable, "The Victory of Virtue," is the feminine partner of the Warwickian joys and sorrows.

The photo play is overlong—in fact, it might have approached the barriers of invisibility with small loss.

We have Mr. Brady's (William A. who has launched into active management of the World Film Corporation) word for it, expressed to exhibitors, that "he shares with you and your patrons supreme disgust for poor picture plays. He is working for that same sort of revolution which stigmatized his advent into the stage world. For twenty-five years Mr. Brady has studied the public and he knows just what appeals to folks."

We hope "Sudden Riches" is a leftover from the past—not an authoritative sample of what we are supposed to be appalled by.

The "Primal Lure" reflects rather more to the manner than to the theme, for in final analysis "The Primal Lure" is one of our commonest of the past, a real wild western. But it is so rare in photography, location, playing, and psychology that, though the hero begins his career at the stake by the rampaging Indians, it stands as a photograph, not a sensation.

The scene is laid in the big woods country, in a little stockade belonging to the Hudson Bay company, where the factor, Angus McConnell, stern and righteous Scotman, rules rigidly over the little band of fur trappers, the time being seven or eight hundred years ago. There comes a villain, and complications, and the Blackfoot siege.

Angus McConnell is William S. Hart, that sterling player, who stands again every inch a man, and there are a good many inches of him, more than a photograph.

The little girl playing opposite him, Marjorie Wilson, seems a find. She is attractive, and simple in her playing. Her features are a trifle heavy for enlarged close-ups, but her facial mobility keeps a certain change of expression in play, so that she is quite fascinating to watch.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

(Copyright, 1934, By The Chicago Tribune and The New York Globe.)

1916 and 1930.

BY ELIZABETH LORD.

REFLECTING the modes of the group, many of the summer frocks for children are charming. Especially so are the muslin frocks with dropped shoulders, tiny puff sleeves, and quaint, small empire bodices that give a little girl's body just where her heart thumps hardest when the room grows strange at dusk, before the candles are lighted. Sensible modes there are, too, with a quite up to date look to suit the matter of fact mother, and nearly all groups' materials are used in making these young folk frocks.

For the tailored suits, coats, and dresses of the girl in her early teens, the adult models are changed little—a few additional looks to become the undeveloped figure and allow greater freedom for exercise and growth, a flatter, more childish collar, perhaps, an ad general avoidance of extremes. The same serge, gabardine, flannel, and even broadcloth and silks are employed in making these costumes.

BRIGHT SAYINGS of the CHILDREN

"The Tribune" will pay $1.00 for each child's saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsolicited contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "The Tribune," Chicago.

Shredded Celery.

THE calorific value of celery per pound is 84, that of lettuce 57, according to Sherman. The latter, according to most dietitians, is the lightest of all foods, that is, gives the smallest returns of anything in heat and energy. Both these vegetables are valuable in the diet because of their high mineral content and bulk.

The man who wants to consume his own substance can profitably eat celery, but he is being misled when he thinks he is eating it in the place of bread and butter. They are not equivalent in the slightest sense.

Not only the fashion of growing this but the fashion of serving daintier salads has popularized celery so that it is to be had in the market the year around. For the salads the celery is cut in the thickest of little blocks, the method of making which was exploited in this column nearly a year since. This month Mrs. Ida Cogswell Allen gives this same subject attention in a current magazine in an article on "Salads and How to Make Them."

Celery for salad should be cut into small dice; if properly prepared even the outer stalks may be used. The greens should be washed with a brush, the strings removed by slipping a knife under them at the root end and pulling toward the top of the stalks; scraping is not a good method. Two or three stalks should then be put together, they should be held on a board and the stalks shredded lengthwise, then cut crosswise into small uniform pieces.

MUSIC AND THE MUSICIANS

American Symphony Plans New Season.

BY ERIC DE LAMATER.

DIRECTORS of the American Symphony orchestra congratulated themselves yesterday on account of the first annual report of the new organization's affairs. Thereafter they busied themselves with announcements for next season—a schedule which should set at rest any apprehension as to the orchestra's abandoning on the doorstep the founding yeoman "American music." Popularity has not disturbed the serenity of Conductor Glenn Hillard Gunn's prophetic vision. The report stated that ten concerts have been given this last season in Chicago and six outside the city. This includes a short tour of last fall, and does not include the engagements of the orchestra by other organizations. It is estimated that over 22,000 persons in this city heard the orchestra on bona fide, bought and paid for tickets.

Next season a subscription series of ten concerts will be played at the Grand opera house. The soloists already arranged for include Mrs. Schumann-Heink, one of the directors, who donates her services; George Hamlin, Charles W. Clark, James Whitaker, Allen Spencer, Kurt Wandek, Carol Robinson, Edward Collins, Belle Tannenbaum, Hazel Eden, Mrs. Thomas A. Prindle, Guy Woodard, and Richard Wagner. Other musicians of note are the subjects of negotiation, and will be duly heralded.

Being earnestly brought not to tell, this typewriter's Nemesis has studiously refrained from observing that the recently interested Musical Art society will resurrect itself on May 22 at Central Music hall for the glorification of choral art. Herbert Hyde, organist and choirmaster of St. Peter's church, is the vitalizing force. He wanted secrecy. He got it. The resurrection is the result, he believes.

To Mr. Hyde goes the respect and the loyalty of every one interested in "a cappella" singing. He has proved his musicianship and his courage. The program will follow the general lines of his predecessor's schedules—works from the early polyphonic school, the Russian literature, and modern part-songs.

At Hull house this evening will be sung Reinicke's "The Enchanted Forest" by students of the Hull House music school under the direction of Eleanor Smith. Tableaux and dances, supervised by Edith de Nancré and Gwendolyn Foulke, will complete the program. It will be repeated tomorrow afternoon.

Musical Club Has Anniversary.

The second anniversary of the Chicago Woman's Musical club was held at the Congress hotel yesterday afternoon with a "Wildflower" luncheon and a program of music and readings. The program was by Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns, Thomas McGrath, Miss Irene Stoklosa, and Miss Carol Robinson, and Mrs. Eleanor Cappe-Hosler, president of the club.

The Sociedad Hispano-Americana has in plan a benefit concert for the children of the Spanish composer, who, it is reported, was lost, with his wife, in the sinking of the Sussex. He was on his way home after the first taste of success in the production of his opera, "Goyescas," this last season. With him was lost also the sum of money gained from the performances.

Society and Entertainments

"Price of Orchids"
a Friday Club Riot.

BY CINDERELLA.

AND there was the Friday club play last week. "The Price of Orchids." People haven't finished talking about it yet. It was written for the Howard competition a year ago and was so funny as presented by the Friday club that people forget all the disagreeables—taxes, the measles, May month, etc.

The scene was laid in a fascinating flower shop. There it was, the little counter with cut flowers on it; the glass case with choice flowers, the rows of white potted plants.

Mrs. Cecil Barnes, as the flower girl, in a blue and black skirt and string of beads, did her part beautifully. Her sister, Mrs. Samuel Chase, dressed as a florist, in a blue suit with a white collar and cuffs, and a white apron, did her part with a flourish.

Mrs. Albert Kales of Winnetka was a splendid comedienne, and Mrs. William Chase of Winnetka was a splendid comedienne. The play was a riot.

Mrs. Laird Bell was the most charming and ingenious of debutantes, doing her part with great finish, and Mrs. William Chase of Winnetka was a splendid comedienne. The play was a riot.

Although the essay never once changed her expression, she changed her voice many times, so that her audience almost died laughing and passed away, after her whirlwind.

The Friday club is about to have a change of officers, and it is supposed that Mrs. James Kealey will fill the honorable post of president.

It was to take place at the Winterbothams, the most famous of the city's clubs. It was to take place at the Winterbothams in Lincoln Parkway. Everybody was on edge over it.

Now the matter is off until the fall, November, but by that time, such is the momentum of our life, the Russian ballet will be so far in the past that a parody of it would lack effect. A scribbler's dinner lap the taps for the fall.

Mrs. John C. Black is filling a very special place in the city's social life. On Wednesday at the Blackstone, in the English room, was her luncheon for thirty-six, mostly young married women. It was a very lovely luncheon and followed by nine tables of bridge. The prizes were exquisite and the cards for warm weather, in gauze and chiffon.

Next Wednesday, Mrs. Black has cards out for another luncheon, followed by the play.

s from the northwest. The windstorm is expected to have a high wind speed. There are reports from the north that although most of the damage is optimistic, it has been done in the extensive loss of news from many sources. The percent was a loss of some 50 percent and some of the cities have been hit. The Kansas City house is more widespread. The Kansas City house is however, a loss of some 50 percent outside buyers. The loss with such a loss of foreign market is a loss of some 50 percent to Broomfield. The loss of some 50 percent is a loss of some 50 percent.

FORECAST CORN SEASON WHEAT MART

Local Longs Sellers—Reports
Small Bad from Southwest—Corn Tone Is Easy.

Table with 4 columns: Date, Price, Change, and Volume. Rows include various commodities like corn, wheat, and soybeans.

Predictions for showers in Kansas checked the buying demand for wheat yesterday and started local selling, which resulted in a sharp decline. There was general selling by local long sellers, some of whom estimated the local situation in the West. On the break there was a better demand and prices rallied quickly at the close. Final prices were 1/2 to 3/4 lower.

Shorts also bought, and there was commission house buying on the bad reports from the southwest and also from the recent windstorms in the northwest. It appears to have been greater than the reports. There also were several bullish reports from the spring wheat country, although most of the early reports were more optimistic, a great deal of seeding being done in the last week.

Extensive Losses Southwest. The news from the southwest was built up from many sections. Damage to 30 per cent was claimed in north central Oklahoma and southern Kansas counties. Kansas City buyers wired that damage was more widespread in Kansas than was reported. The Kansas City market was weak, however, and there was not as much outside buying as would be expected with such bullish reports current. According to Brookfield, the damage to the corn crop is believed to be more than ample abroad, but more concern is being felt in regard to future supplies owing to the discouraging reports from this country and Canada. The wheat spot was unchanged, but cargoes were a little firmer.

Cash Trade Continues Slow. The cash market was slow and there was no special change in prices. Export brokers said practically no business was being done at the Gulf, while at the eastern seaboard the business was practically all in Manitoba. Local sales were 10,000 bushels. Receipts were 82 cars and primary receipts were 648,000 bushels a year ago. Clearances were fair at 780,000 bushels. Receipts from the west were estimated at 2,000,000 bushels, compared to 8,000,000 bushels a year ago. The forecast was for generally fair conditions except for showers in Kansas, Missouri, and parts of Illinois.

Lower Range for Corn. Selling was quite heavy at the market, and there was a little rally with wheat. Cash prices were steady to the lower and a little better demand was in evidence, sales being 200,000 bushels. Sales to go to store were 800,000 bushels. Receipts were 221 cars, and primary receipts were 508,000 bushels, against 418,000 bushels a year ago. Cables were unchanged, a fair demand being reported.

Argentine shipments for the week were estimated at 2,125,000 bushels, against 1,300,000 bushels a year ago. A little Plate corn was reported worked to New York for prompt shipment. Weather conditions were fair and planting is making rapid progress, with present prospects for a record crop. Clearances were 75,000 bushels. Kansas City reported light country offerings.

Oats Lower After Rally. Oats showed considerable strength at the outset, but later sold off with wheat and closed a shade to 1/2 lower. At 40c for the September, commission houses bought quite freely. The cash market was not much changed, with a moderate demand, sales being 15,000 bu. Clearances were liberal at 55c, 50c. Receipts were 282 cars and primary receipts were 750,000 bu, compared to 401,000 bu a year ago.

Say "I Will"— and Mean It

Don't limp through life on the crutches of borrowed brains and precedent. Own your own mind and let us hope it isn't furnished on the installment plan with ideas picked up here and there from other men for whom the customs of long ago were good enough.

There may have been a time in Fairy Tale ages where marble columns, gilded capitol, crystal chandeliers and Persian rugs were necessary—and therefore permissible—gilded traps where-with to entice the half-blinded and unthinking customer.

But this is the age of today; this is the City of "I Will"; this is the one spot in the United States where we have a right to expect more independent thinking, more self-deciding brain power than anywhere else. Chicago men have a reputation for thinking for themselves. Figure out for your own self whether it's your money or the merchant's money that pays the fat landlord his exorbitant tribute. Is it your money or the merchant's money that pays for onyx pedestals and silk plush drapes in the show windows? Does your money or the merchant's pay for glittering crystal and polished brass, for German silver fittings and carved mahogany show-cases?

The customer does not pay for anything like or even similar to or related to such clap-trap in a Foreman & Clark store.

Upstairs Here at $15

Since the first day we started our campaign for an upstairs, square deal, one-price clothing business—since the first moment when we resolved that the Public was ready for the Golden Rule in business, we landed solar plexus blows on many teams of foolish extravagance which are so frequently in evidence in some extravagantly conducted street-level stores. The public has appreciated this. Thousands upon thousands of customers endorsing us and coming back to us are the finest testimony in the world proving conclusively that you, too, should come and "Trade Upstairs and Save $10.00." You, too, can profit in this way.
